Mack Cracks Under Probe, May Resign

Pictured As Tool In Conspiracy By Thurman Whiteside

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Richard A. Mack cracked under a torrent of reproach from House investigators today, and promised he will most seriously consider resigning from the Federal Communications Commission.

Obviously dazed, Mack was excused from the witness stand after Chairman Harris (D-Ark.) of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight pictured him as the tool of a deliberate conspiracy engineered by Mack's wealthy friend, Thurman A. Whiteside.

Mack listened, motionless, hands cupped before his face, as Harris and Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) told him the best thing he could do was quit.

Consider Remarks

Finally the 48-year-old Mack told Harris: "I certainly will most seriously consider your remarks."

He then asked, midway in his testimony, to be excused until sometime next week. The investigating group readily granted his request, asking him to come back next Wednesday. Mack left the hearing room with an almost trance-like bearing. An aide guided him by one elbow.

It was a dramatic climax to an investigation which has resolved around FCC's 1957 award of Miami's TV Channel 10 to a National Airlines subsidiary in preference to three other applicants.

Mack voted for National. He has acknowledged receiving thousands of dollars in loans from Whiteside and in advances from business holdings given him outright by Whiteside, Rep. Wolverton (R-N.J.) pictured Whiteside as a money manipulator in the class of the swindler Charles Ponzi.

Besides Harris and Moss, other committee members called for Mack's departure from government. Counting those who expressed their views before, during and after today's hearing, six members have said either that he should quit or be fired. This is a majority of the 11-man committee.

Declines Comment

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, declined comment on these demands. In response to questions, Hagerty said Mack had not resigned. Hagerty also said this is "not on my docket" for discussion with Eisenhower later in the day at Walter Reed Hospital, where the President is awaiting a physical checkup.

Mack insisted to the end of his testimony that Whiteside helped him out of pure friendship, and he said he never suspected Whiteside might have an axe to grind—even though the Miami lawyer admittedly talked to him on several occasions in favor of the National Airlines application.

"Unbelievable!" declared Rep. Moss, who then proceeded to tell Mack:

"The greatest service you could render to the FCC would be to resign immediately. Clearly you are unfit, at least by temperament, to serve."

Mack, whose voice was slurred and not clearly audible at times, made no reply.

Ike Has A Tooth Pulled, Ready For Physical Exam

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower had a tooth pulled today and then settled down with a Western magazine at Walter Reed Army Hospital to await a physical checkup Saturday.

The physical examination, scheduled to begin about 11 a.m., will be a followup to the slight stroke Eisenhower, now 67, suffered last Nov. 25. It will be conducted by three of the neurologists who were called in at that time.

Air Force Thor Nose Cone Test Is Launched

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—The Air Force hurled a Thor ballistic missile spaceward today to see if its new shiny nose cone could take the trip back to earth.

But the Air Force would not say whether the nose cone was a success or how far the Thor had traveled.

Thor is expected to become a weapon for European defense within a year as is the Army's comparable Jupiter.

The new nose cone looks whittled down, slightly pointed and highly polished. The old cone was rounded like the end of a finger. The 1,500-mile Thor, burning a brilliant yellow flame behind it, burst from its launching pad at 8:07 a. m.

Gaining speed faster than the successful Army Redstone missile fired Thursday the Thor roared through several layers of murky clouds before breaking into the sunlight.

It arched southeastward and could be seen further down the beach at the head of a growing trail of vapor, caused by the meeting of hot rocket exhaust and the chill upper air. The trail lasted about a minute.

The Thor disappeared from binocular view about three minutes after launching.

For all the thunder and fury of its climb, the business part of the Thor's flight is its descent back into the earth's atmosphere and down toward target.

This silent journey comes after the engines have burned out and the guidance has done its job.

It is then up to the Thor's nose cone to protect a warhead against the enormous heat and stresses caused by the collision of the missile's tremendous speed and the dense atmosphere of earth.

Companies Recall 2,800 Employees

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—Two companies today said they were recalling workers.

Underwood Corp. said more than 2,800 of its 4,300 employees laid off since early January will return to work in March.

Laclede Steel Co. plans to recall about one-half the 600 workers laid off at two of its plants the past two months.

Kohler Firm Is Denounced By UAW Chief

Kitzman Testifies Concern "Arrogant And Dictatorial"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—A regional director of the United Auto Workers denounced the Kohler Co. today as an "arrogant and dictatorial" firm that wanted a strike.

Testifying before the Senate Rackets Committee, Harvey Kitman, UAW's Region 10 chief in Milwaukee, accused the Wisconsin plumbing fixtures firm of building a company arsenal, training antistrike troops and making "open and brazen preparations for industrial warfare."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) advised Kitman to simmer down. "If you're going to use provocative language, the other side is going to use provocative language," he told the witness. "I can take it if the rest of you can, but it will not be a very pretty story to put before the country."

Probe Into Violence

McClellan's committee is inquiring into repeated acts of violence during the 45 months the UAW has been on strike against the Kohler plant at Kohler, Wis., a village near Sheboygan.

When Kitman continued his denunciation of the company, McClellan cut him off, saying he was delivering more of a speech than testimony.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy told Kitman that "certainly the first illegal act was taken by the union, with the starting of mass picketing on April 5, 1954."

Kitman denied the picketing was illegal and defended it as necessary to protect the strikers from company guards. He said the mass picketing issued "as soon as the NLRB issued an injunction."

Resumed Operations

"Fifty-seven days later, and not until a court intervened," Kennedy said, his voice rising. "And you spend 30 minutes telling us what a terrible thing the company was doing."

Kohler resumed operations 54 days after the strike began.

Kitman told the senators the strikers "were afraid and they knew that in numbers there was at least some safety, since they figured the company n y wouldn't open fire on such a large group of unarmed workers."

The union official charged that Kohler Co. guards killed two persons and wounded 47 in a 1934 strike.

"The company's desire to force a strike . . . has become apparent to everybody since the management . . . has stubbornly refused to make any real concessions," Kitman said. The dispute involves wages, working conditions and the rehiring of strikers.

A Senate investigator testified earlier the Kohler Co. bought shotguns, pistols and thousands of rounds of ammunition after the UAW organized its plant.

Carmine Bellino, a staff detective, also said the bathroom fixtures firm purchased four wooden barricades, camp stoves, binoculars, 11 referee whistles and 300 coats and sleeping bags.

His testimony before the committee brought on an argument among committee members and other staff aides as to whether the union and the company were

Grandmother Back With Pets

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 28 (AP)—Her 28 animal bite wounds still not fully healed, Mrs. Evelyn Currie today walked alone into a cage with three lions and decided to continue her animal training act.

The 35-year-old grandmother was armed only with a broken chair. She said she had to test her nerve before making the decision.

Shortly after the attack by a 600-pound African lion and a 450-pound Bengal tiger four weeks ago, Mrs. Currie said from her hospital bed she might give up the act.

Her mother, Mrs. Irene Clark, who helped beat off the attacking animals last month, said she still wants her daughter to quit. "I think she's crazy to go back, but what can I do?" Mrs. Clark said. Mrs. Currie said she has disposed of the two cats that sank their fangs into her because "once they eat me they know I'm meat."

The blonde performer and her husband, Harry, moved the animals and equipment from New York State in early January because of the severe weather.

Death Beneath The Water

Boats ply back and forth on the rain-swollen Big Sandy River near Prestonsburg, Ky., where a school bus carrying 23 children and the bus driver to death in 30 feet of water. 24 Drown As Bus Sinks Into River

PRESTONSBURG, Ky., Feb. 28 (AP)—A loaded school bus hit a wrecker and an auto on a lonely mountain road today and dropped into a rain-swollen river, apparently carrying 23 children and the driver to their deaths.

Sixteen others, some pushing, shoving and screaming, fled through an emergency door and windows before the bus sank into 30 feet of water.

The National Safety Council called it the worst highway accident involving children in the nation's history.

Eight hours after the mishap, red-eyed parents and relatives still lined banks of the Levisa fork of the Big Sandy River, waiting for rescuers to find some trace of the vehicle.

Before starting down an incline, the bus had stopped to pick up nine students at a wooden suspension bridge, just 200 feet from the scene of the mishap on U.S. 23 about three miles from here.

State police said the nine were among those listed as missing and presumed drowned.

One survivor, 15-year-old David Wright, was sitting by a window when the bus went into the water. "I managed to roll it down," he said. "And crawl out. I pulled two other girls out with me."

Wright said he believed a boy named William Leedy, about 15, was the one who managed to open the emergency door.

Donald L. Horn, driver of the wrecker, said he answered a call to pull a truck out of a ditch about three miles from here.

"I was trying to pull it across the highway," he recalled, "when the bus rounded a curve and struck my wrecker from the rear." Horn said the bus then veered into a parked car and headed for the river.

"All the kids were pushing, shoving and screaming," said Martha Otis Burchett, 17, one of those who survived. "There was a pileup at the rear door and some of us managed to squeeze through."

Another survivor, Isaac Vanderpool, was sitting directly behind the driver, John Alex Derosssett, when this bus went into the water.

"Some little kid opened the emergency door and we began scrambling outside," he said. "The last thing I saw was the

Parents Turn Son Caught With Dope Over To Police

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 28 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. James R. Styles turned their 19-year-old son over to police after Mrs. Styles found five marijuana cigarettes and an ounce of bulk marijuana under the mattress when she made his bed.

Chief of Police Charles E. McIntire of suburban Imperial Beach quoted James R. Styles: "There wasn't much to it. My father said: 'You remember what I always told you, don't you?' He always told me if he caught me messing with dope I'd go to jail."

Young Styles was arraigned yesterday on a charge of possessing narcotic weed and a preliminary hearing was set for March 11. He said he bought it in Tijuana, Mexico, Sunday for $7. His father is a Navy enlisted man at Camp Elliott.

driver sitting behind the wheel. I don't think he got out."

School officials said Derosssett, about 28, had driven the bus three years without an accident. They said the bus was "relatively new and in good shape."

Most of those aboard were high school students from the tiny mining community of Cow Creek in southern Floyd County. Others were heading for elementary schools at Prestonsburg, on the eastern tip of Kentucky about 82 miles from Huntington, W. Va.

Crowds began gathering soon after the accident. Adding to the confusion was the fact another school bus had passed the scene a few minutes before Derosssett came along.

Small boats later began cruising the area, carrying respirators and diving equipment.

Prestonsburg High School was closed shortly after news of the disaster reached authorities.

Student Saves Bus Passengers

MONTEVIDEO, Minn., Feb. 28 (AP)—A plucky high school student freed the other young occupants of a tipped school bus after a collision today, then fought through smoke and flames to bring the semiconscious driver out of the burning vehicle.

Drivers of both vehicles were severely injured in the collision of the bus and a car. Two girls suffered concussions and the 11 other children escaped with minor hurts.

The public school bus tipped into a ditch following the collision and the front portion burst into flames.

With the bus on its left side in the ditch, students were unable to get out the regular door. Mark Anderson, 17, a high school senior, quickly opened the emergency door at the rear, got the other students out, and then went back for the driver.

Young Anderson was driven back by smoke and flames on his first attempt to reach the driver. Virgil Baldwin, Anderson tried again, reached Baldwin at the front of the bus and dragged him out the rear door. Moments later the bus was destroyed by the flames.

Atomic Specialists To Go To Europe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The United States will send a team of atomic power specialists to Europe within two weeks to help six Western European nations draft plans for a network of atomic power reactors.

The State Department said today the American group would meet with a working party of the six nations who have organized the European Atomic Energy Community—Euratom.

Wife Keeps Vigil By Husband In Coma 183 Days

GRAND FORKS, N.D., Feb. 28 (AP)—Each afternoon and evening Olive Carson makes a trip to Deaconess Hospital here to keep a lonely vigil.

She comes to visit her husband Glen F. Carson, 64, who cannot see her, cannot hear her, cannot speak to her. He is not conscious of her existence.

Six months ago today he was overcome by gas while repairing a sewer lift station. Firemen rushed him to a hospital.

Nurses could feel no pulse, but they revived him with a resuscitator. However, poisonous fumes had destroyed vital tissue cells in his brain.

For 183 days Carson has been a helpless, unconscious patient in the hospital. His doctor says he may live for a long time, since organically he is functioning rather well. His heartbeat and pulse are regular. His stomach digests the food he is given through a tube.

VA Increases Discounts For GI Home Loans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Veterans Administration today increased by one percentage point the permissible discounts on GI home loans, saying it hoped this would make more private funds available for the dwindling program.

Effective tomorrow the discounts will range from 3½ to 6½ per cent, depending on locality and amount of down payment.

They were set at from 2½ to 5½ per cent last Aug. 5 under requirements of the 1957 Housing Act. A discount is a premium which banks or other lenders demand on a mortgage loan to bring the yield up to prevailing rates.

VA characterized the increase as an interim step to stimulate the GI home loan program pending congressional action on the Eisenhower administration's proposal to eliminate interest rate limitations and discount controls.

The VA said discounts cannot be charged to a veteran buying a home under VA guaranty, but must be absorbed by the builder.

No allowance for the discount rate paid by the builder is made by VA in appraising GI homes.

No changes were made in the other discount control regulations which limit the fees and other charges payable by builders in obtaining construction finances, a VA spokesman said.

The GI home loan program has been shrinking since 1956, primarily due to the tight money market which prevailed until last fall. Under law there is a 4½ per cent interest ceiling on GI loans. Congress last year rejected an administration request to boost the ceiling to at least 5 per cent.

Today's announcement said there had been a marked decline in the program since imposition of the discount controls last August.

Robeson Files Suit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Paul Robeson, the singer, filed a suit in U.S. District Court today seeking to force the State Department to issue him a passport.

His attorney said Robeson wants to go to England to act in a play and appear on television.

Bowery Social Register For 1958 Is Published

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—The 1958 edition of the Bowery Social Register—"The Blue Book of Society's Basement"—is out.

And out of the register are many of Manhattan's best-known down - and - outers. Exceeding orneriness brought them the bum's rush from top rank at the bottom end of the social strata.

The Bowery Social Register is an adjunct of the Bowery News, which occasionally gets around to chronicling the doings along the Famed East Side Skidrow.

This year's register is an eight-page affair resembling a tabloid newspaper and is glowingly hailed by its crew as the biggest ever put out. The list of those put out of the social ranks was big, too.

The register sells for 15 cents—which will spare many a Bowery celebrity from learning of his social nosedive. That sum buys a pretty fair shot of "Sneaky Pete," the fortified wine much favored in the area.

Unlike the more august blue blood publications, the Bowery Register unflinchingly tells in

Also Passes Pay Raises For Employees

President May Veto $732 Million Rate Bill, Aides State

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Senate tonight voted 732 million dollars worth of postal rate increases. It then passed pay raises for 1,500,000 federal workers totaling more than the new rate revenue.

The Senate wrapped 320 million dollars worth of postal pay hikes into the rate bill.

It also quickly passed by voice vote a separate measure giving the one million classified civil service workers a pay boost totaling about 417 million dollars.

Thus the two pay raises totaled five million more than the postal rate increases.

Republicans made it clear they believe the postal bill will be vetoed in its present form because of the pay raises which went far beyond what President Eisenhower has asked. Sen. Bridges (R-NH) called the bill a "mixed-up mess."

Pay Rates Higher

The pay hikes adopted for the postal workers would average 12½ per cent as compared with 6 per cent urged by the President in his budget and 8½ per cent offered in a Republican compromise on the Senate floor today.

The pay boosts for the classified employees in the separate bill would amount to 7½ per cent apiece, except that a few top-grade employees would get slightly more. This measure goes to the House which has not yet passed any pay legislation this year.

The classified pay raise would be retroactive to Jan. 1, the same effective date as voted for the postal salary hikes.

The postal bill will now go to a Senate-House conference. The House has passed a smaller bill.

The rate increases in the Senate bill include a 5-cent stamp for nonlocal letters in the three years starting July 1, 1958, a provision not included when the House passed the measure last year. The Senate bill also calls for 4 cents on local letters.

After the 3-year period the rate on all first class letters would be set permanently at 4 cents, under the Senate measure.

The House voted for a flat 4-cent rate, without any provision for the temporary 5-cent stamp.

Also in the Senate version are substantial rate increases for all other classes of mail including an 8-cent airmail stamp compared with the present 6 and boosts for newspapers, magazines and advertising circulars and catalogues.

Raises Are Retroactive

The postal pay raise included in the bill averages 12½ per cent. Each worker would get 7½ per cent but those in the lower five grades also would receive a $240 cost-of-living bonus, those in the sixth grade would get $160, and the seventh grade $80.

The pay raises would be retroactive to Jan. 1 this year. The cost-of-living bonuses are effective only for three years under the bill but sponsors said they expected them to be permanent.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), administration spokesman on postal legislation, offered an 8½ per cent pay raise proposal as a substitute for the Democratic plan but it was rejected 54-29. This was 1 per cent

Bad Connections Delay Vanguard

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—Faulty connections in the Vanguard satellite test rocket, discovered early this week, were officially admitted today, but there was a difference of opinion as to whether they caused any delay in the Navy launching program.

At Baltimore, the Martin Co. builder of the Vanguard rocket, acknowledged that there had been an "incorrect connection in the propellant tank," but denied that any delays had resulted.

There has been a blackout on operational detail on Vanguard launch efforts here for almost three months, but reporters picked up the installation error information from nonofficial sources.

There was no denying that, had they gone undetected, the defective installations virtually would have eliminated the possibility of placing the Vanguard's miniature satellite in an orbit.

Errors Corrected

Since the errors have been corrected and the rocket restored to working condition, the question as to their part in Vanguard delays this week is somewhat academic.

The launching attempt was stymied all this week by a series of technical difficulties—their nature not made public—and by rain and heavy wind.

If all these problems are successfully resolved, as the faulty connection difficulty has been, the Navy may send its Vanguard rocket aloft any time next week.

The Army also may attempt next week to launch a Jupiter-C rocket with a new Explorer satellite aboard.

The faulty assembly reversed fuel lines leading to and from a small tank in the second stage of the three-stage, 72-foot test vehicle.

The tank holds liquified propane gas, the fuel for small auxiliary jet motors.

On a Vanguard satellite launching, the main engine of the rocket second stage is designed to burn out at an altitude of about 140 miles. The rocket then coasts for three and a half minutes to the orbital altitude of 300 miles, at which point the third-stage engine ignites.

During this long coasting period the little propane-fuel engines provide the control that is needed when the second-stage main engine is no longer functioning.

Might Change Flight

Without these directional jet blasts, the coasting rocket might change its flight position, drift off course, and never attain the horizontal path required before the third stage fires up the push to orbital speed.

The internal defect went unnoticed during final inspection of the rocket at the Martin Co. plant in Baltimore, but was discovered here before any actual harm had been done.

Workers said the propane storage chamber had two openings: one admitting the fuel into the tank and the other serving as a vent or safety outlet. The intake line was wrongly fastened to the vent outlet, and the other line was improperly attached to the fuel entry connection.

The result: The propane supply "choked up." The lines had to be lengthened and rearranged.

Police Rescue Mother, Child From Blaze

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Two policemen rescued a mother and her three-year-old son from their burning home today.

Capt. William T. Murphy and Pvt. Walter B. Zurowski were driving past 11th and I streets, S.E. when they saw Albert Ingraham dashing for a fire-alarm box. Ingraham pointed to smoke billowing from his nearby home and told the policemen that his wife and child were inside.

Murphy found Mrs. Ingraham, 42, on the first floor and led her to safety. While the father was searching the basement, Zurowski found three-year-old Louis beneath a bed on the top floor and carried him outside.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze.

Surplus Food For Unemployed

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 28 (AP)—Washington County officials are exploring the idea of trying to get surplus government food to give to unemployed people.

Chester F. Delphay, president of the County Commissioners, and Francis J. Connolly, director of the County Welfare Board, have conferred on the matter.

Delphay said today the welfare department has had many inquiries from jobless persons who say they've exhausted their unemployment benefits.

Kohler Firm

Lyman C. Conger, Kohler's attorney, entered an angry objection to Bellino's testimony, saying a great deal of the ammunition went to a company trap shooting club and for the training of plant guards.

Bellino had reported the purchase of 18 shotguns, described as "riot gun" types, and 22 pistols from 1952 to 1955. The UAW organized the Kohler plant in 1952. When asked by Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) why the firearms were acquired, Conger said "because we knew the past record of the UAW in strikes" and had "very little confidence in the sheriff."

U.S., Allies Press Russians For UN Talks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The United States and its European Allies have decided to press Russia to resume disarmament talks in the United Nations despite a Soviet threat to boycott such meetings.

Diplomatic officials who disclosed this today said the Soviets would be asked to attend a meeting in New York in about three weeks of the 25-nation Disarmament Commission.

To set the stage for this, Allied diplomats are reported ready to appeal privately to Moscow to abandon its boycott threat for the sake of breaking the six-month disarmament debate.

Soviet leaders have repeatedly vowed they would have nothing to do with the commission on the grounds that its membership is stacked 4-1 in favor of the West.

Anticipating a possible Russian refusal to back down, the Allied nations are understood to have decided to turn to the U.N. Security Council for new instructions if the Soviets stay away.

The Allied plan, reportedly agreed to in Paris yesterday by the 15-nation Atlantic Pact Council, became known as Harold Stassen fired a new volley of criticism at the government's disarmament policy.

Stassen, who quit two weeks ago as White House disarmament specialist, called for U.S.-Soviet agreement at a summit conference to halt nuclear testing with a cutoff in nuclear production.

He predicted to the Senate Disarmament subcommittee that this could be done by autumn and the whole world would acclaim it.

Stassen flatly disagreed with President Eisenhower's apparent view that the Atlantic Pact Allies would object to his plan.

But he adamantly refused to say whether he had laid his proposal before Eisenhower and had it rejected. Nor would he air any differences he had with Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles which might have led to his quitting as White House disarmament negotiator.

Stassen, now seeking the Republican nomination as governor of Pennsylvania, testified: "This first step could be negotiated within the next six months successfully with all the states concerned."

"I believe it would best be consummated at a summit meeting which could be held within the next five months if preparations started now."

"It would be best to hold the summit meeting at the United Nations in New York, with the secretary general as moderator."

Stassen has been replaced as disarmament negotiator by James J. Wadsworth, deputy chief delegate to the U.N.

Two Are Hurt In Auto Crash

SALISBURY, Feb. 28 (AP)—Two Pennsylvania men remained in critical condition today from internal injuries as the result of a auto collision near the intersection of U.S. 50 and U.S. 113 near Ocean City.

Salisbury General Hospital reported that Reynold Augustine, 32, of Linwood, Pa., and Peter Manuskay, 37, of Eddystone, Pa., suffered multiple internal injuries. A third passenger in their car, Anthony Weaver, 55, of Brookhaven, Pa., was treated for minor injuries and released.

The three were riding in a car driven by Wayne Weaver, 45, of Chester, Pa., last night when it collided when another car driven Berlin.

The state police report said that Hynson, driving north, veered into the opposite lane and struck the Pennsylvania car, headed south. Hynson, injured only slightly, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and with reckless driving.

Also Passes

Carlson said he did not believe the President would sign a bill containing a pay raise as large as that sponsored by the Democrats.

He said it would be "foolish and inhuman" to hold out to the postal employees something they were not going to get.

But Democrats scoffed at this and urged senators not to be deterred by threats of a veto.

Police Remove Arms From B17, Hold Crewmen

BONE, Algeria, Feb. 28 (AP)—Police today removed three tons of arms from a Flying Fortress and kept a guard on its part-American crew despite official word the men are free to leave.

The World War II vintage bomber landed here Tuesday because of engine trouble on a flight from Israel. The four-man crew was quoted as saying the plane was bound for Venezuela.

But when the cargo, listed on a manifest as spare parts in boxes, turned out to be arms and ammunition, the French slapped a blackout on the landing until they investigated. They suspected the weapons were intended for Algeria's rebels.

The French Foreign Office broke the story in Paris with the announcement that the plane is at liberty to leave when it wishes and the crew members are not under restraint.

But a police officer said the crew—two Americans, a Belgian and an Israeli—were still under surveillance at the police station and the plane under military guard at the airport.

"I know they are here but I don't know why," said the officer. Higher French officials continued to keep a tight lip. The headquarters of Gen. Raoul Salan, top commander in Algeria, refused any information.

The U.S. Embassy in Paris, which normally would be informed of the arrest of Americans, said it had been given no information. The State Department in Washington said it had received only a bare report from the consulate in Algiers.

"We have received strictest orders not to reveal the names of the crew," said the local police commander.

But the hotel where the pilot stayed last night said his name was Leon Gardner of Forest Hills, N. Y.

Whether the armament would be impounded was not yet known. Late Tuesday the four-engine bomber radioed it had been caught in rough weather over the Mediterranean and asked permission to land because one engine had conked out.

The lack of national or license markings on the plane and the strange manifest aroused the suspicions of airport police. Customs agents opened the crates despite the pilot's protest.

The pilot was quoted as saying the arms and plane were the gift of Israel to Venezuela. Other crew members were quoted as saying the plane lacked markings because it recently was purchased in the United States and they intended to sell it in Miami after the flight to Venezuela.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli aviation sources said the plane left there Tuesday for Venezuela and was not Israeli-owned or registered.

Bell Aircraft Plans More Worker Layoffs

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 28 (AP)—The Bell Aircraft Corp. says almost one third of its 15,500 employees were laid off last year and thousands more may be let go when a current contract is finished. Bell President Leston Faneuf said yesterday he plans to discuss the situation with area congressmen and defense officials in Washington.

Teenage Boy, Baby Killed By Train

NORTH EAST, Md., Feb. 28 (AP)—A teenage boy and a baby were killed tonight in a train-auto collision near here at the Dutch Town crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The victims were riding in the car. Dr. R. C. Dodson, deputy medical examiner of Cecil County, identified the dead as Leon Eugene Lockard, 19, and his 15-month-old nephew, Rex Leon Mc-Barnes, both of North East.

17-Year-Old Resolution Sent To U. S. Congress

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 26 (AP)—Del. Culotta (R-Balto 3rd) has been trying for the past two years to get Maryland to come out officially in favor of women voting.

But his resolutions to ratify the 19th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution have gotten nowhere. Recently he discovered that his hard work wasn't necessary. The 1941 Legislature passed such a resolution and Gov. O'Connor signed it. But it was never forwarded to Washington.

There is no record in the Archives of the United States of the 1941 action, and historians continue to list Maryland as one of the 10 states who haven't ratified the amendment.

Today Gov. McKeldin corrected the situation. He sent certified copies of the 1941 legislation to Washington. And now the world will know that Maryland does favor women suffrage.

Princesses Are Named

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Selection of these state princesses for Washington's annual Cherry Blossom Festival was announced today.

Virginia — Miss Jean Wood Brydon, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brydon III, Richmond Va. She is an art major at Marjorie Webster Junior College here.

Delaware — Miss S. Ellen Peterson, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Peters, Smyrna, Del. She attended Averett College, Danville, Va., and is now a student at the Annapolis School of Business, Annapolis, Md.

West Virginia — Miss Ann Baker Tierney, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Edward Tierney Jr., Leatherwood Farm, Bluefield, W. Va. Governor Signs Measure To Aid Balance Budget

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 28 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today signed into law a bill which will help legislative finance committees raise $1,820,000 toward balancing his budget and softening a State tax increase.

It will require State agencies supported by special taxes and fees to pay the retirement costs of their employees and relieve the general fund of this expenditure. It was one of two measures signed at the governor's first signing session of the current Legislature. The other measure permits the chief deputy treasurer and chief deputy comptroller to sign and countersign bonds which now require signatures of the treasurer and comptroller.

The retirement fund act is a key revenue producer in a batch of several measures Chairman Turnbull and Boone of Senate and House finance groups are sponsoring.

Others, designed to produce nearly two million dollars in budget adjustments if enacted, would require subdivisions to help pay the costs of distributing state tax revenues to them, require public utilities regulated by the public service commission to pay special filing fees, and base teacher and State employee retirement on the highest 10 years of salary rather than the highest 5.

The latter is designed to decrease spending by about one million dollars a year but is given the least chance of passage.

Attorney Indicted On Forgery Counts

BALTIMORE, Feb. 28 (AP)—A former member of the State Industrial Accident Commission was accused today on two forgery counts totaling $59,500.

The Baltimore Grand Jury presented Melvin R. Blacker, attorney who was named to the State commission in 1956.

The 35-year-old Blacker was accused in one case of forging the signature of his former father-in-law, S. H. Greenberg, to a promissory note for $44,000. The presentment said Blacker intended to defraud Clarence M. Plitt, Baltimore investor.

UN Disarming Talks Planned For Next Move

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 28 (AP)—The United States' new disarmament negotiator, Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, said today discussions will begin immediately on the question of what to do next.

He told reporters he referred to informal consultations already under way on a small scale.

Wadsworth is deputy chief of the American U.N. delegation. Wadsworth in a recorded interview with the Voice of America, said it occasionally would be necessary to hold certain conversations outside official U.N. bodies. But he said the U.N. "should hold an umbrella" over disarmament so all its members could be kept informed.

He told U.N. correspondents a couple of ideas look promising among those now being discussed to break the Soviet-Western deadlock over procedure for disarmament talks. He would give no details.

U.N. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, due back Sunday from an Asian trip, will continue as U.S. representative on the U.N. Disarmament Commission, with Wadsworth as his deputy. Most of the negotiations have taken place in the 5-nation subcommittee — Britain, Canada, France, the Soviet Union and the United States. They deadlocked in London last September.

The Soviet Union has served notice it will never go back to the subcommittee and will attend meetings of the newly enlarged commission only if it is further changed to give Communist or neutral countries half the seats.

Harold E. Stassen occasionally differed with Secretary of State Dulles while he was disarmament negotiator. He quit Feb. 15 to seek the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

Young Farmer Sent To Prison

BALTIMORE, Feb. 28 (AP)—A young Mennonite farmer from Southern Maryland was sentenced to three years in prison today after he refused to accept work in a civilian hospital in lieu of military service.

Daniel Martin Stauffer, 25, of Loveville, St. Mary's County, is classified as a conscientious objector under the selective service laws.

Despite pleas by Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, Stauffer said he would "have no part of the military training act."

Judge Thomsen said "it is difficult for me to understand your reasoning."

"If your refuse to help sick people as other conscientious objectors have done, you must be punished."

Stauffer, dressed in black garb and hat of his religion, said he had no objection to helping the sick but wanted no part of the military training act.

Body Scooped Up From River Bed

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 28 (AP)—Naval Academy officials said today that workmen on a land-fill project in Severn River have dredged up the body of an unidentified man.

The body was scooped up with some dirt from the river bed at a point off Reina pier.

The body has been taken to the Naval Academy Hospital for an autopsy while authorities are trying to identify the victim.

International Relations Group To Study Decisions

A study club on "Decisions of 1958" was planned by members of the international relations group of the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women, following a talk by Arthur Verner.

ON DEAN'S LIST — Miss Lois Mae Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Lee, Cresaptown, is on the dean's list for the first semester at the University of Maryland Pharmacy School in Baltimore. Miss Lee is secretary of the freshman class and has been pledged to Lambda Kappa Sigma sorority, Epsilon Chapter.

The meeting was held Wednesday evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Speaking on "World Trade," Mr. Verner, export sales manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, explained the policies of private business in promoting trade with foreign countries.

The question of dealing with Communist countries was discussed in terms of the difference in personality makeup of people who are Communists and those who are not interested in that form of government. Thus, he pointed out, there is a different approach to the foreign countries in promoting trade agreements. Mr. Verner also discussed how development in countries that have been primitive in their methods of farming has to be done in easy stages and cannot be accomplished in one generation.

The international group decided to form a study club on the topic, "Decisions of 1958." Subjects to be discussed include, "Can We Deal with Russia?" "What Security in the Rocket Age?" "United Europe — Partner or Rival?" "Middle East — New United States Responsibility" and "Should the United States Trade with Red China?"

Leaders will be selected from the members to guide the discussion of each topic. Miss Janet Anderson, chairman, is to order the study material and arrange with the city library for displays of the research material.

Flowers were sent by the group to Miss Virginia Dixon, Mrs. Mary Harrison and Mrs. Veronica Schleifman.

Members attending the dinner meeting were Mrs. Aden Everstine, Miss Lillian Boughton, Miss Pauline Fisher, Miss Annie B. Gray, Miss Adele Malcolm, Mrs. A. L. Rogers, Mrs. Kathleen Sullivan, Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Ton Van Strien, Mrs. Marguerite Weakland, Miss Dorothy Williams, Miss Geraldine Wolfe, Mrs. George Wolford, Mrs. William Blake and Miss Anderson. Mrs. Verner was a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey A. Ensor have returned to Edmonton, Canada, after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bewick, 801 Shriver Avenue.

TENSE MOMENT — "Business — Merely Business" a comedy in three acts will be presented by the senior class of St. Mary's High School tomorrow evening and Tuesday evening. The performances will begin at 8 o'clock in the church hall. Pictured above are Janet Weaver, seated, who portrays Dora Terry in the production. Left to right are Elaine Egan as Primrose Bates; Donna Swartley as Ann Ware; Judy Lee as Patty Ware; and Blanche Brinker as Mrs. Ware. The play deals with humor, pathos and near tragedy.

Older 4-H Will Meet Today

In preparation for the public speaking contest, Miss Dorothy Emerson, associate state 4-H leader, will speak on "Speak For Yourself" at a meeting of the 4-H Older Youth Club today. The county contest will be held in May or early June. The state winner will be chosen at Club Week in August.

The joint meeting of the 4-H girls and boys is being held at 10 a. m. in the Cumberland Free Public Library. It will open National 4-H Club Week in Allegany County.

Patricia King will preside at the business session, at which time the special citizenship ceremony for 4-H members, to be held at the University of Maryland March 8, will be discussed and plans to attend will be made.

4-H members of Maryland who are 21 years old this year will be recognized in the citizenship ceremony, which will be a part of the 4-H Older Youth Citizenship tour, in connection with the state observance of National 4-H Club Week.

The one-day tour is limited to 4-H club members 16 to 21 years old and includes a tour of the National Art Gallery in the morning and a tour of Mt. Vernon in the early afternoon.

Gerald Monzman, Baltimore lawyer and executive secretary of the United Christian Citizens, will speak on "Our Four Responsibilities" in the afternoon and present scrolls and copies of the Bill of Rights to the 21-year-olds this year. Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, director of the Agricultural Extension Service, is to present the citizenship pins.

All Stars To Be Selected

Prospective candidates for All Stars will be discussed at the meeting of the Allegany County All Stars tomorrow.

It is to be held at the home of Mrs. Regina Dowling, 307 Mt. View Drive, at 7:30 p.m. Miss Mary P. Wise, home demonstration agent; and James B. Arnold, assistant county agent, urge all members to attend.

BSP Cruise To Paris, Entertainment Planned

Entertainment and recognition of patrons were discussed at a meeting of the entertainment committee for the Beta Sigma Phi Council dance, which was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Patricia Golden, Marion Street, committee chairman.

The annual "Beta Sigma Phi Cruise Ball" this year will feature Paris. For the benefit of the Girl Scout Camp fund, the dance will be held April 18 at Clary Club. Russ Romero's Orchestra, Pittsburgh, will play from 10 until 1 o'clock.

Plans were made by representatives from each chapter for entertainment to be presented at intermission. It will consist of a variety program with audience participation.

Prizes also were discussed. It was decided that each chapter is to be responsible for four. Planning to pay recognition to those persons purchasing patron tickets for the dance, it was decided to tie it in with the decorations which feature Paris.

Those present were Miss Imogene Hixon, Alpha Alpha chapter; Miss Ruth Lester, Exempt; Mrs. Dorothy Green, Lambda; Mrs. Katherine Koon, Omicron and Mrs. Martha VanHorn, City Council president.

Committees Appointed

Committees for the Ladies Shrine Club were appointed by Mrs. I. Newton Evans, when she assumed her duties at the meeting Tuesday evening at Masonic Temple. Mrs. Hugh Funkhouser, Mrs. John J. Robinson and Mrs. John Earsom comprise the sick committee. Mrs. Robert Derham, sick, for Westernport, Mrs. Charles Hager, sick, for Frostburg, and Mrs. Lawrence Shafterman, welfare.

A social followed with prizes awarded to Mrs. Ray Wilt, Mrs. Otto Smith, bridge; Mrs. Joseph Gross, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, 500; Mrs. Edith Shillingburg, Mrs. James Orr, dominoes, Mrs. Arthur Apsey, Mrs. Howard Fisher, canasta and Mrs. J. C. Rhodes, a special prize.

Bedford Road Firemen and Auxiliary will hold a dance to night at the fire hall from 9 until 12.

Projects Share Tour

The wide range of beneficiaries of the 21st annual Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage, April 29 through May 11, has been made possible by home owners sharing their homes for a day. The chief beneficiary is The Hammond-Harwood House. However, many other charitable and restoration projects receive contributions. The sponsors, Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland, Society for Preservation of Maryland Antiquities, Maryland Historical Society and Baltimore Museum of Art, report that after expenses are deducted, 50 per cent of the take is returned to each county to be used for tax-free purposes, designated by participating home owners.

Opening with Green Spring Valley, April 29; the schedule includes, Anne Arundel County, April 30; Woodbrook - Ruxton - Lutherville, May 1; Queen Anne's County, May 2; Kent County, May 3; Talbot County, May 4; Forum, May 5; Harford County, May 6; Worthington Valley, May 7; Baltimore City, May 8; Charles County, May 9; St. Mary's County, May 10; Prince George's County, May 11.

Bride Is Honored

Mrs. Helen Wilson and Mrs. Catherine McNeel entertained with a postnuptial shower and party honoring Mrs. Kenneth Rapson. It was held Wednesday evening at the home of the latter, Emily Street. The former Miss Jean Kaiser became the bride of Mr. Rapson, February 14. The ceremony was performed in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. The bridal and Valentine themes were combined in the decorations. Appropriate games were played. Approximately 24 attended.

Carpenters Auxiliary To Hold Card Party Mar. 15

The Ladies Auxiliary, 659 of the Carpenters Local Union completed plans for a public card party at the meeting earlier in the week at the Labor Temple.

Forum Contest Started

Housewives who have discovered original household hints will have another opportunity for a free Florida vacation, in the fifth annual Homemakers Forum contest, which has just started. A non-profit organization that encourages housewives to exchange time and money saving ideas, the forum has collected over three million household hints. Last year a book of these hints was published and 40 of the best chosen each year, with the winners getting a free vacation for two as well as other prizes.

Hints should be sent to: Jane Stewart, Dumas Milner Corporation, P.O. Box 1662—Grand Central Post Office, New York 17, New York.

Going to a luncheon or dinner can be fun, but when some of the food spills on your best dress, it can ruin any party.

Homemakers Forum has compiled a list of hints on how to remove some of these stains.

Meat juice can be removed by sponging spot with cold water. If stain remains, seep in diluted ammonia until loosened—then dip in lukewarm water.

Chocolate or cocoa stain can be removed by dipping fabric up and down in hot water. Bleach any remaining stain with peroxide, then rinse well.

Coffee and tea spots will disappear if you pour boiling water over it. Dip in solution of commercial bleach for further bleaching.

Cream and ice cream can be removed by dipping fabric up and down in hot water. Bleach any remaining stain with peroxide, then rinse well.

Following the meeting the auxiliary was hostess for a pie social, entertaining members of the local. Two pictures were shown. One was of the carpenters home and the other, "The Carpenter," dealing with working with wood from the tree felled in Oregon.

Approximately 100 members and guests attended.

Potomac Valley Riding Club will meet at 8 tonight at Woodland Inn, Route 28.

You and your responsibility

At last this little bit of life is ready to become a part of your home. You are glad, and at the same time you feel a great responsibility.

Perhaps you already realize how much the Church can help you. From the day you stand before the minister and dedicate the little one to God, on through the various departments of Sunday School and young people's work, the Church is always ready to lend a hand. Its spiritual message strengthens you, its worship services enrich your life, its opportunities for leadership increase your ability.

In the Church you will find other fathers and mothers with problems similar to your own. You will find boys and girls, men and women, working together, and from these beginnings will grow a better home life, a better community, a better world.

Yes, this is a beginning. Start now to make your home a center of Christian activity . . . and make the Church your home!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Heart Drive Sunday At Luke, Westernport

PTA Sponsoring Area Campaign

WESTERNPORT — A door-to-door solicitation will be conducted in Westernport and Luke tomorrow for the benefits of the Allegheny-Garrett Heart Association.

In some sections of Garrett County, a solicitation will also be made, Heart officials indicate.

The Heart Sunday campaign here, at Luke and in some sections of Garrett County was postponed last Sunday due to the weather and other factors. Most sections of the two counties, however had a highly successful campaign, and Heart Association officials report that the support and contributions of residents in the two counties served by the association were much higher than last year.

Mrs. Wanda Stevens, president of Hammond Street Parent Teacher Association is chairman for the drive here, and she said yesterday that members of the PTA and other volunteers in Luke are prepared to conduct the "Late Heart Sunday."

Last Sunday, volunteers in Piedmont held a very successful drive. Piedmont is a part of the West Virginia Heart Association, and is not affiliated with the Allegheny-Garrett Heart Association, except on a cooperative working basis.

The solicitation here is to be held between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. Mrs. Stevens said.

Midland Personals

Miss Irma Robertson, former resident, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John "Bub" Robertson, who operate the Old Mill Tavern at Millerson's Mills, W. Va., has accepted a position with an oil company in Caracas, Venezuela. She left by plane this week. She has been employed by the Navy Annex in Washington, D. C. for the past five years, since graduating from Beall High School, Frostburg.

Mark and Stephanie Lannon, children of Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Lannon, Cullen, Md., have been staying at the home of their grandmother, Broadway Street. Mr. and Mrs. William Keller, Eckhart, visited Mr. and Mrs. William E. Orr, O'Mara Avenue. John Roguish, Railroad Street, returned from Miners Hospital, Frostburg.

Elk Garden Marine Served With NATO

ELK GARDEN, W. Va. — Marine Pfc. Donald F. Parrish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Parrish of Elk Garden, W. Va., returned to Camp Lejeune, N. C., after five months in the Mediterranean area with the 1st Battalion of the 6th Marine Regiment, as part of the NATO forces with the US 6th Fleet.

Venture Club Sponsors Dance

WESTERNPORT — The Tri-Towns Venture Club will sponsor a teen-age dance Monday from 8 to 11 p. m. March 3, at the Union Hall, Main Street, according to Miss Margaret Devine, president.

A feature will be a jitterbug contest. A small admission will be charged for the dance but music will be provided without cost. Refreshments will be sold.

Keyser Area Pre-School Clinics Set

KEYSER — The first Pre-School Immunization Clinic for Keyser area children, including Limestone and Fountain, will be held Tuesday, March 4, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. at Mineral County Health Department in the Court House in Keyser.

Children who will enter school in the fall must be vaccinated against small pox and satisfactorily immunized against diphtheria. All children from the age of three months to school age are eligible to attend this clinic. Diphtheria immunization requires three injections, one month apart each, for satisfactory immunity.

Subsequent clinics will be held in April and May to complete those beginning immunizations on March 4.

Other pre-school clinics to be held in Mineral County are: Elk Garden, Wednesday, March 12, 1:30 p. m.; Piedmont, Thursday, March 13, 1:30 p. m.; New Creek, Friday, March 14, 1:30 p. m.

Fraternity Pledges Ten

FROSTBURG — Xi-Xi Science and Mathematics Fraternity at Frostburg State Teachers College pledged 10 new members this week at their monthly meeting.

Elected as president at a recent meeting was Carolyn Angle. She will be assisted in the administration of the fraternity by Leo Cangianelli, vice president; Elizabeth Ann Maher, secretary; Deanna Martin, treasurer, and Dale Seburn, sergeant-at-arms.

Joanne McPartland, a sophomore and member, was selected as winner of an essay contest sponsored by the group. The title was "What Is Progress?" Each pledgee was required to write an essay on the subject in order to become eligible for membership. Miss McPartland was a pledgee from the last semester and is a 1956 graduate of Valley High School and is a mathematics major at the college.

Walter Rissler and Lowell Sowers are co-advisors of the fraternity.

Frostburg Police Receive Numerous Splash Complaints

FROSTBURG — William Sluss, police commissioner of Frostburg, has issued an appeal to motorists to be more considerate of pedestrians during the next few days as the snows thaw on the streets.

Sluss said that numerous complaints have been received at the city hall but police are powerless to act and feels that the solution rests with the drivers of the cars. Sluss suggested that drivers watch for pedestrians, especially on wet slushy streets and then slow down as they pass them.

This may help avoid the splashing of pedestrians with muddy slush, he suggested.

Green Mt. Archers Meet Monday

KEYSER — The Green Mountain Archers met recently in Rosemont Restaurant to further plans for the coming archery season. The next meeting will be held in the Rosemont Restaurant at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Non-members will be welcomed at the meeting.

More than four thousand varieties of plant life are found in North Carolina.

Westernport Will Augment Water Supply

Town To Tap Piedmont Line

WESTERNPORT — The town of Westernport, plagued with a shortage of water in the town's reservoir, has negotiated the purchase of additional water next week from the town of Piedmont, W. Va., according to Water Commissioner Alvin Pence.

On Sunday and Monday nights from 9 p. m. until 7 a. m. water from Piedmont's system will be piped directly into the Westernport pipe lines, and water from Westernport's town reservoir will be turned off from the town's mains, to give the reservoir a chance to fill.

For a number of weeks, Mr. Pence explains, water in the town's reservoir has been very low, because people are letting their faucets run all the time to prevent pipe lines from freezing.

Earlier this week, as weather became warmer and Piedmont water had been used over a short period, the reservoir which holds 175,000 gallons of water at a depth of 17 feet, was filled to the ten-foot level.

Since then, the level has remained at about that point, Mr. Pence said.

On Tuesday morning, Westernport water workmen will begin the task of installing a larger booster pump in the wood yard of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's mill at Luke so that the supply of water pumped into the town's reservoir can be increased. The 300-gallon-per-minute pump is not sufficient to keep the reservoir filled, so a 1,000-gallon pump is to be installed, and will be operated at a capacity of the mains, or at around 500 to 600 gallons per minute. Thus, the supply of water going into the town's water system will be nearly doubled.

The purchase of Piedmont water, therefore, is necessary to get the reservoir filled so there will be an ample supply in storage for general use and in case of fire, while the new pump is being installed.

It will be necessary, Mr. Pence said, to shut off the line to the town reservoir and no water will flow to the huge tank until the new pump is in operation.

Both Westernport and Piedmont get raw water from Savage River. Westernport has dammed the big Savage River Dam Reservoir, and Piedmont has its own reservoir farther downstream.

During this month, and the month of February, the water table in Savage River Reservoir is at its lowest point under normal conditions. Commissioner Pence said this is because water level there is allowed to drop so that huge amounts of winter and spring runoff can be stored as a part of flood control and to keep fresh water in the big dam each year.

When the level is low, the available head or pressure from the dam is low. When water in the big dam is high, pressure and flow are greatest.

The Piedmont system, which also includes a booster pump from its town storage and filtration plant, is sufficient to supply Westernport only in emergencies, hence the use at night, when the town's own needs are at a minimum. While the Piedmont system is supplying Westernport, Commissioner Pence said the Westernport Hill, part of Greens Addition and part of Oak View in Westernport will be without water, as pumps will not lift the flow to these high elevations. He suggests that residents draw a reasonable amount of water in those areas to get them through the hours between 9 p. m. and 7 a. m. Sunday and Monday nights.

Rotarians View Film On Russia

LONACONING — Ralph Swauger, a member of Lonaconing Rotary Club, who is in charge of the Highland Boys Camp near Lonaconing, showed a film on "Soviet Russia" at the Rotary Club program Thursday at the VFW home.

He had as his guest Dave Curran who is in charge of the Boys Camps. Harry O. Chappell was also a guest.

Frederick H. Sheeley, Edward McPartland and Garlitz Barclay attended the Allegheny County Youth Commission at Cumberland city hall last Tuesday and Garlitz Barclay gave a detailed account of the meeting just organized for the youth recreation of the county.

A perfect dead-heat was achieved by the two attendance teams, headed by Tim Connor and Scotty Orr, captains. Leslie Clark, attendance chairman, reported that four weeks of perfect attendance will rate Lonaconing Rotary Club attendance high for the month.

Tim Connor was elected chairman of the "On To Bedford" committee to get club members interested in attending the Bedford Rotary conferences and membership dinner on April 27, 28, and 29.

Garlitz Barclay will be program chairman for Thursday, March 6, at the VFW home.

Evangelist To Conclude Campaign

FROSTBURG — Evangelist George Butrin, Bloomsburg, Pa., who has preached nightly at the Trinity Assembly of God Church, Midlothian, since February 14, will conclude his stay here with an outstanding weekend.

"From Catholic To Christ" will be the theme at 7:30 p. m. today when he tells his life story. He will tell many outstanding events of his life that brought him to conversion and the ministry. He will attend the 9:45 a. m. Sunday School tomorrow with a surprise for everyone.

On Sunday, at 7:30 p. m., he will bring his concluding message.

These revival meetings have been the best attended in the church's history, and the public is invited to attend these meetings. Rev. James L. Tate, pastor, said.

Seed Specialist To Address Farm Meeting, March 3

OAKLAND — Several farmers in Garrett County have been interested in growing certified seed. According to James A. McHenry, assistant county agent, there are certain laws and regulations regarding growing certified seed that need to be understood and discussed.

A meeting will be held at the Accident Fire Hall March 3, at 10 a. m., at which time Joseph L. Newcomer, University of Maryland Extension Agronomist and Seed Specialist, will discuss the following: (1) Principles of certified seed production. (2) Requirements of labels to meet Maryland State Seed Law.

Any farmers, seed handlers, or other interested persons are free to attend this meeting which is sponsored by the county agents' office.

The body is at the residence where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. Ralph C. Hall and Rev. Paul Westcoat. Burial will be in the IOOF Cemetery.

J. HOWARD BRINKMAN

James Howard Brinkman, 85, of 22 North Waverly Terrace, was dead on arrival yesterday at Memorial Hospital.

Born at Town Hill, he was a son of the late Fred and Mary (Slider) Brinkman. His first wife, Mary E. (Gracey) Brinkman, died in 1922.

Mr. Brinkman was a retired superintendent of the hot mill at the old N & G Taylor Company and served as custodian for the BPO Elks Lodge 63 here until 1944. He was a member of the Methodist Church, Woodmen of the World and the Elks Lodge.

Also surviving besides his widow, Nina M. (Hockman) Brinkman, are six children by his first marriage, Walter E. Brinkman, Leslie H. Brinkman, Howard H. Brinkman and Mrs. Gerald Miller, all of this city; Mrs. Bessie Rice, Akron, Ohio, and Clyde W. Brinkman, Wiley Ford; a brother, Theodore Brinkman, city; a sister, Mrs. Mary Milburn, city; 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Members of the Elks will conduct a memorial service tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the funeral home.

HARVEY E. HERSHBERGER

MEYERSDALE, Pa. — Harvey E. Hershberger, 83-year-old retired farmer, died yesterday at his home, RD 1, Meyersdale.

A native of Elk Lick Township, he was born on June 12, 1874, and was a son of the late Eli and Elizabeth (Miller) Hershberger.

His wife, Mrs. Ada (Kretzman) Hershberger, preceded him in death. Mr. Hershberger was a member of the United Church of Christ (St. Paul Wilhelm Charge) and was a former deacon, elder and church secretary for a number of years.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Olen L. Miller, and John R. Hershberger, both of Grantsville; Ray K. Hershberger, Mrs. Pearl H. Stanton and William H. Hershberger, all of RD 1, Meyersdale; Milton C. Hershberger, RD 4, Meyersdale.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Cora Bender, Fresno, Calif., and Miss Ada Hershberger, Los Angeles, 16 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

The body will be at the home after 3 p. m. today and will be taken to the church at 1 p. m. Monday for a service at 2:30 p. m.

Rev. Clarence Whetstone will officiate and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Also surviving besides her husband, are a sister, Mrs. James R. Smith, Marcus Hook, Pa., and a brother, Alonzo R. Smith, city.

The body will be taken to the residence today.

Commissioners Praised For Recent Action

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received a number of letters expressing thanks for action taken on the supplemental pension for school teachers and one from the coach of LaSalle High School's football team for use of Dry Run Field on the county farm property as a practice field.

Coach Norman Geatz Jr., coach of the LaSalle team, thanked the board and stated the use of the field will be of great benefit to the students and school. The team has been practicing for several years at the SS. Peter and Paul recreation area on Mason Road, almost three miles outside town.

J. A. Petry, principal of Valley High School in Lonaconing, wrote to thank the board for the added pension for school teachers. He said he was speaking on behalf of the faculty at the school.

The faculty of Virginia Avenue Elementary School here also sent a letter of thanks for the supplemental pension payment plan.

A letter was received from the Midlothian Homemakers Club stating the organization was in favor of a county library system.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson reported two complaints on roads. Repairs to Shortest Day Road in LaVale were asked by Lester Delawder and Frances Oler asked that shale be placed on the old Winchester Road.

The Green Mountain Boys were the followers of Ethan Allen and victors at Ticonderoga and Saratoga.

In old Hungary, a bigamist was forced to live with both of his wives.

TO SPEAK HERE — Very Rev. Msgr. David I. Dorsch, director of Catholic charities in the Baltimore archdiocese, will be the speaker at the communion breakfast of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, Sunday. The breakfast will be held following the 8:30 a. m. mass at St. Patrick's Church in the social center of the parish. George Callahan is chairman of arrangements.

Badly Burned Woman To Go To Baltimore

Attaches at Memorial Hospital said Mrs. Dorothy Shaffer, 21, of RD 1, Hyndman, will be transferred to a Baltimore hospital for further treatment of burns suffered in a home accident February 5.

The young mother of two children was badly scalded about the arms, legs and body when a tea kettle overturned.

More than a quart of every gallon of blood pumped by the heart passes through the kidneys.

Hughes Supports Plan For Book By McKeldin

Democratic leaders in the General Assembly took pot shots yesterday at a plan by Gov. McKeldin to publish a booklet on the "major accomplishments" of his administration, but the brochure idea brought a defense from Del. George R. Hughes, Allegany County Republican.

Hughes, minority floor leader, said the brochure is "a legitimate function of state government."

Del. Simpkins (D-Somerset) led off the criticism last night when he read to the House a letter from McKeldin asking all state department heads to submit information on the accomplishments of their agencies during the governor's eight years in office.

The letter, signed by a governor's aide, suggests that, if the department has no one experienced in drafting such material, "a capable and experienced person be employed specifically for this purpose," with the department meeting the cost of his services out of its own funds.

Simpkins said "I'm sure (the brochure) will cost a tremendous amount of money. I doubt if the people of Maryland are going to get great benefits from it. It's going to be compiled at State cost to justify the existence of his administration."

Del. Boone (D-Balto), majority floor leader, said the Legislature could not stop publication of "this dandy little brochure."

But he suggested the lawmakers specify in future budget bills that "no funds be appropriated for public office seekers."

McKeldin has been mentioned frequently as a possible candidate for mayor in the Baltimore City election of May, 1959.

Russell H. McCain, executive assistant who signed the letter, was asked if McKeldin planned to use his brochure in connection with any campaign for another political office.

"No, I don't think so," McCain said. "We haven't decided just what we'll do with it yet."

McCain said he had no idea how much it will cost. Neither did Albert W. Quinn, who as assistant to the governor will compile the reports.

"We may not even do anything with them," Quinn said. "It depends on what's in them."

Quinn said the governor requested the booklet be assembled as a "sort of report on his administration — a 'State of the State' report."

Given Jail Sentence

Harrison Carl Spiker, Lonaconing, yesterday was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail on a non-support charge.

Juvenile Magistrate Fred H. Anderson, who imposed the sentence, said Spiker failed to contribute to the support of his wife and seven minor children.

Bill Is Favored To Keep Mine Director On Job

ANNAPOLIS — The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee yesterday gave a favorable report to a bill which would enable Frank T. Powers to continue his job as director of the Bureau of Mines past the age of 70.

The measure sponsored by Sens. Friend (R-Garrett) and See (R-Allegany) removes the directorship from the group of appointive and elective offices where retirement is mandatory at 70.

Friend and See said that Powers, 70 next summer, wants to stay in his job and all the mining interests would like to see him stay.

The measure would allow Powers to remain as director of mines for two more years. See said this would allow him time to train someone else for "the highly skilled job."

The favorable committee report was held up pending a check to make sure the bill would not prevent Powers from receiving pension benefits when he does retire.

About Our Claims In Antarctica

Outer space isn't the only area where the United States government is gingerly feeling its way on exploration and territorial claims. Sen. Lyndon Johnson pushed through the U. S. Senate a resolution setting up a Space Age committee, and 14 Senators have been appointed to it.

Now some influential Congressmen are reportedly taking a look at the frozen wastes of Antarctica and asking aloud whether something should not be done about staking down U. S. claims there. What is being discussed is establishment of a U. S. Antarctic Commission to advise the State Department on the subject.

This proposal is meeting a cool reception in some circles. The State Department would like to leave things the way they are so it could control Antarctic policy without interference from a Congressional committee.

Even in the age of missiles it has been difficult to determine what any nation could do with the Antarctic. It is costing the U. S. millions merely to keep a small survey team down there. But there is always a chance that the finding of deposits of scarce metals there or the discovery by science of ways to alter the weather might change the picture.

Two centuries ago the French and Spanish became so involved in European wars that they let the apparently inconsequential New World slide away by default. Unlikely as it seems that Antarctica will ever amount to much, it would be foolish for Uncle Sam to fail to "prove his claims" there.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Trouble With Harry

Unquestionably, Harry Truman has matured since he ceased to be President of the United States, but he cannot overcome the habit of "giving 'em hell." It is the small boy in Harry, shooting at adults with a rubber-bad and getting a belly laugh out of the "ouch."

So it is in the interview between Harry Truman and Edward R. Murrow on February 2. This colloquy occurred:

"MURROW: I was rather expecting that you might have suggested it would have been the dismissal of General MacArthur in terms of re-establishing—or rather establishing again the control of the civilian over the military.

"TRUMAN: That was only following a precedent. If you remember, James K. Polk had the same sort of trouble with some of his generals in the Mexican War. And Abraham Lincoln had to fire general after general. McClellan particularly stands out as an example in comparison with the MacArthur thing. And the Constitution provides that the President is the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of the United States. And when he acts as Commander-in-Chief, he's got the right to hire and fire generals any place he pleases. And there was nothing new about that at all. That was only the establishment of a precedent. When the Commanding General of the Far East was insubordinate he got relieved, the same as any other general would under the same circumstances."

Then there is a long discussion on General MacArthur's conduct. Truman had consulted General Marshall, General Bradley and Averell Harriman and they were all for dismissing General MacArthur. One of the things that seems to have rankled Truman is this:

"Well, when he landed in San Francisco, the first thing he should have done was to take a plane and come to Washington and call on his Commander-in-Chief and accept the situation as it was. . . . He was trying to build up public opinion without consulting the fellow who understood public opinion. I never had anything personal against the General—he's a great military man. And it's a terrible thing when you have to do that to a man who's been in the military service for 51 years. But he brought it on himself and it had to be done."

Prior to the Truman interview, Ed Murrow wrote to General MacArthur asking him to do an interview. General MacArthur replied on February 4, after having seen the Truman interview on television:

"Mr. Truman's appearance on Sunday seemed to me to illustrate almost classically the historical dangers involved in aftermath and afterthought statements. He made statements entirely incompatible with the incidents as reported at the time of occurrence. So incomprehensible with the truth were some of his comments that at times he seemed to me almost like a clown rather than as one who had been the Chief Magistrate of this great country. It was entertainment but not history."

General MacArthur then lists six specific "falsities and fallacies" in Truman's . . . apparently desperate effort to relieve his conscience of the dreadful aftermath resulting from his Korean mishandling. . . .

Among these falsities is Truman's statement:

"General MacArthur sent an article to Dave Lawrence's magazine, and didn't send a copy to the White House or to the President. I happened to find it in the Press Room of the White House; and I suppressed it because it was not in line with the policy of the United States Government, and sent him word that he couldn't do a thing of that kind. And then he was willing to have the matter withdrawn."

To this, MacArthur replied:

" . . . This is entirely false. I have never written to Lawrence at any time. A strategic analysis of the military value to the free world of the Island of Formosa made by me at the request of a veteran group to which I belonged was the cause of his wrath."

There is not room here to give every statement of denial by General MacArthur. But I shall quote one: "He insists that I was insubordinate. Yet every witness from the Pentagon swore before a Congressional Committee to the contrary. Actually, the order and accompanying statement relieving me refutes such an allegation which was made only years after the incident."

History and the record will decide between these men, one an heroic figure in war and peace, the other a clever politician with a penchant for amusingly "giving 'em hell."

The Weight

Trouble Ahead For American Foreign Aid Program

By David Lawrence

knows there's trouble ahead in Congress for the foreign aid program—and likewise for the extension of the reciprocal trade agreements. So a high-powered sales job was undertaken here, this week by a group of conscientious persons in both political parties who think these projects are vital to world peace.

But, as with a lot of meritorious ideas, the proponents talk mostly to themselves. They do not perceive the considerations of practical politics that present the real obstacles.

It's not "popular," for instance, to be arguing in Washington for the expenditures of large sums for aid abroad when there is unemployment and recession going on among the people back home, the promotion of whose well being is the primary obligation of the members of Congress.

It's not "popular" to talk about extending reciprocal trade agreements and lowering tariff barriers when so many constituencies throughout the country would be adversely affected if foreign goods — manufactured at lower wage costs than prevail here — were permitted to enter the United States in great quantities.

Many Senators and Representatives in both parties face a condition, not just a theory, in these matters. It's true that prominent Democrats like Messrs. Truman, Stevenson and Acheson are joining with President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and Secretary Dulles in espousing the two programs, and there are, moreover, very good arguments for these proposals. But vote-getting is something else again, and the Congressional elections are just a few months away.

Who is to take care of the unemployed in these industries?

What about the loss of investments in the businesses that would be injured by the breakdown of tariff walls?

It's easy enough to offer high-sounding arguments about the importance of building up foreign economies, and how the rest of the world must be able to sell their goods in our markets if we are to produce a prosperous economy for everybody. But the voters who see their textile plants hurt by a tariff are up against a concrete fact—namely, the possible loss of their jobs.

The question of tariff walls has been before the American people for many decades. A gradual reduction has been made over the years, but lately the opponents have argued not so much against changes in tariff rates—for even the present duties are not high enough to protect some industries—but in favor of some kind of quotas actually to restrict or limit imports from certain countries. The Europeans use the quota system. Even American magazines started since 1945 are kept off the newsstands of Great Britain because the government there wishes to limit the competition with British periodicals. The Canadian government, moreover, put a high tax on certain types of American publications to discourage their doing business in Canada.

It may be thought that the opposition in Congress to the extension of the reciprocal trade agreements is inconsequential and can

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

About this time of the semester fifty years ago we would be swinging south with Clark Griffith. His idea of the deepest south was the same as Lincoln's early generals.

That would be about Charlottesville, Virginia. It was a cup in the Blue Ridge that ranneth over.

The Montreal team also trained there to get used to their own weather.

It was colder than a bowlegged penguin and most of the training was in fairweather gym. That name must have fooled Griff.

Ten years later going south with John McGraw was more fun. That would be Mineral Wells and San Antone. Later on it was Sarasota.

In Washington the newspaper paid our freight. One thing about Munsey was on the road his men lived like Dukes. Back home they rode tandem with Joe Jackson.

In New York the Giants picked up the tab. Either way an unmarried reporter could stash away enough salary to buy a spring outfit.

We would like to take another trip. At my age I might rate a lower berth.

Saturated And Unsaturated Fats: The Difference

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The amount and quality of the fat content of the diet and hardening of the arteries and heart disease are closely related. This is important because hardening of the coronary arteries is the common cause of heart attacks among men 45 to 65 years old.

Fats enter the picture because they raise the cholesterol level of the blood. Studies have demonstrated that heart attacks are more likely to occur among individuals having more than a normal amount of cholesterol in the blood. But not all types of fat do this.

Fats are mixtures of different fatty acids. Most animal fats are rich in saturated fatty acids, whereas certain marine and vegetable fats contain unsaturated fatty acids. The unsaturated are joined together with double bonds and are more active chemically. They usually are liquid at room temperature, become rancid, and pick up extraneous tastes and odors readily. The saturated fatty acids are less active chemically. They are solid or plastic at room temperature and store longer without rancidity.

But fats also combine with iodine and other halogens. More iodine is attached to the unsaturated fatty acids because they have more double bonds. It is for this reason that "iodine number" is used as a measure of saturation. The unsaturated contain the most and the saturated the least.

What effect does diet have on an individual whose cholesterol level is high? The level remains the same or may increase when meals are rich in animal fats such as cream, butter, mutton, and beef. The level is lowered when unsaturated fats such as corn, soybean, sunflower, or fish oils are added to the menus. This does not occur when the latter are hydrogenated by heat which makes them more saturated.

Americans consume more fats of the saturated type than any other nation. Hydrogenation is widely used to convert liquid oils into solid fats so they will keep better. This does not mean that we should push the pendulum to the other side by omitting animal fats. Moderation will lead to better results.

Sleep is wonderful. My advice is to have a thorough examination to determine the origin of your head noises. Causes vary from early deafness to a brain disorder.

E. K. writes: What causes painful eyeballs that are tender when I put my hands over them?

noted young musicians of England, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, and the Iron Curtain countries. It was a people-to-people gesture which should be emulated in this country.

As Harth played in the Polish Embassy, the portrait of the late Ignace Paderewski, first President of the Polish Republic and one of the most noted pianists of modern times, looked down from over the piano.

Young Harth, finishing his concert, caught a late plane for Louisville to rehearse with his orchestra. He was acclaimed in Europe, Louisville, and Washington, but the musician managers' "trust" in New York won't give him a chance on the general concert stage.

Foes And Enemies

At the big bipartisan foreign aid luncheon, Republican leaders were jovial with the ex-President whom they used to pillory and who had castigated them politically only two days before. It was a political scene you don't witness in many countries.

After Senator Knowland of California and Sen. Alex Wiley of Wisconsin, Republicans, posed with Harry Truman and ex-Secretary of State Acheson, Wiley remarked privately, "I've just had my picture taken with Acheson and Harry Truman. I guess we might all just as well go to hell together."

Mr. Truman, speaking publicly later, said: "I've just had my picture taken with Republican leaders and Democratic leaders. If that doesn't ruin them politically they're bombproof!"

Merry-Go-Round

Last week Senator Gore of Tennessee bet $50 th t Sen. Harry

Byrd of Virginia would run for the Senate despite his earlier refusal. Gore won. Reason for his bet was tremendous big-business pressure on Byrd to keep him on the Senate Finance Committee, which helps write the tax laws of the nation. Business didn't want Bible-quoting Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma to head up this key committee. . . . Some of the Floridians who financed handsome Sen. George Smathers in his double-cross race against his old friend, ex-Sen. Claude Pepper, are now ready to put money on Pepper to run for the Senate again. . . . Sen. Wayne Morse's resolution for a full Senate probe of the regulatory agencies has been referred to the committee headed by Senator Magnuson of Washington, who two years ago was given $250,000 to investigate the FCC. "Maggie" spent the money, but didn't find even one of the glaring scandals now hitting the headlines. . . . For years the big network execs have been bragging that Congress would never investigate them and the FCC. Magnuson, a fine Senator 99 per cent of the time, has a weak spot re TV. He owns part of a station in Seattle and CBS was very quick to switch to Maggie's station once it got a TV license. . . . Dean Acheson, introducing Harry Truman at the bipartisan foreign aid dinner, said: "He annoys people whom we like to annoy." . . . Introducing his wife, the ex-Secretary of State said: "She has borne more trouble than anyone I know —my wife, Mrs. Dean Acheson." (Before Acheson made his famous "I will not turn my back on Alger Hill" statement, he stayed up most of the night discussing with his wife whether he should defend an old friend.)

Aspects Of Life

By Brother Barnabas

Men have different aims in life depending on their grade of intelligence, predilection, opportunity, or happenstance.

Many people have no aim in life, so they drift from pillar to post. Others want to be doctors, lawyers, preachers, so they can get along without work (?).

Some women make no bones about wanting to marry and have a family and play canasta.

Whatever the mark, whether it be in the grand style or the mediocrity bracket, many people fail, and then wonder why.

Did they get off on the wrong foot, were the Fates against them?

Read in Holy Writ (Judges 5:2) how the stars in their courses fought against Sisera, because he happened to be on the wrong side of the universe.

Whoever trims his sails by the spiritual magnetic pole of the world order has an initial push that will carry him far in the race of life.

The rule holds in every avenue of life. Take writing. One writes not because he wants to say something, but because he has something to say.

If he writes to you it falls flat, but if he writes about you, you are all eyes and ears.

If a character in his story is crazy he doesn't say so in so many words but he makes him smash crockery, beat his wife, stab his best friend for no reason at all, and you draw your own conclusion.

If it's a boy-girl equation, with true feminine instinct she does not throw herself at his feet, but leads him on, not by suspended animation, though it amounts to that, but by keeping him in suspense till in one brave moment he proposes; then she takes him for better or worse, often worse than she took him for.

Another boon all men covet is health. Health is as contagious as disease, but most people don't expose themselves to it, and so find their way to the hospital.

"Early to bed, early to rise, Makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

I asked a Sister the other day if her observance of Lent with its abstinences and disciplines had anything to do with her eighty years and never a sick day, and she replied "undoubtedly yes."

One's state of mind has more to do with his physical well-being than this world dreams of. We can't eat wife's first pie and avoid the consequences.

We can't dig our grave with our teeth and avoid the nearest of kin writing our epitaph, which may read: "He got a fishbone in his throat, and then he sang an angel's note."

Many good medical and surgical treatments are available for glaucoma. Removal of the eye is done as a last resort when it is blind and pain is uncontrollable.

These growths usually are removed surgically because there always is a possibility that they are malignant.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone numbers not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Many folks don't mind being preached before, but they squirm if they are preached at. If the preacher is dogmatic they say, "O, preacher, your sermon is showing."

This minister read from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, and a woman indignantly left the church, saying "What was good enough for Paul is good enough for me."

Ethical standards change with progress but do not necessarily improve. Myles Standish would cut off a man's ears for courting a girl without her parents' consent, and forbade men to kiss their wives on Sunday.

A certain man was sent by his wife with a pitcher of milk to their neighbor's. He tripped on the top step and fell with such interruptions as the landings afforded to the bottom. Then his wife was heard calling out: "John, did you break the pitcher?"

"No," said John, "but I'll be dinged if I don't."

Such wifely devotion and such righteous indignation are rarely brought in like juxtaposition.

Religion is life. As such it expands with ever increasing perimeters reaching all this life and anticipating the Great Beyond.

You don't get religion; it gets you. It's not something you hold, it holds you. It's what you have left after you move out.

Its prime purpose is not to make oneself comfortable, but it is to make one uncomfortable. I know a clergyman who tries to make people feel good without being good.

In Miss Macaulay's "Told By An Idiot," there is a clergyman who is always changing his religion in what he believes to be the dictates of his moral sense of love of truth. But it never occurred that his family should enter into his calculations.

There was an old preacher who told some boys of the Bible lesson he was going to read the next morning.

The boys, finding the place, glued together the connecting pages.

The next morning he read at the bottom of one page, "When Noah was 120 years old he took unto himself a wife who was"—then turning the page—"140 cubits long, 40 cubits wide, built of gopher wood, and covered with pitch inside and out."

He was naturally puzzled by this. He read it again and verified it, and then said "My friends, this is the first time I ever met this in the Bible, but I accept it as an evidence that we are fearfully and wonderfully made."

LaSalle Edges Allegany, 60-59; Piedmont Goes To Finals

Explorers Tie Sentinels For City Honors

By TED TROXELL

In a battle that was no less thrilling than last Friday's intra-city encounter in which Fort Hill beat LaSalle in the final second, Coach George Geatz' Explorers scored a 60-59 win over a scrappy Allegany quint last night at Campbell.

The Explorers, who have lost only once this season in 22 starts, clinched a tie for the city title with Fort Hill and made a clean sweep of their two-game series with the Campers, having squeaked past the Blue and White crew by a 40-37 count earlier in the season at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium.

Rick Winfield, LaSalle center who was largely responsible for his club's controlling the backboards throughout the contest, lapped in a rebound with 20 seconds left to play in the spitting struggle that provided the jubilant Explorers with the precious margin of victory.

With 20 ticks showing on the scoreboard clock and Allegany holding a 59-58 lead, Van Parsons stepped to the free throw line after being fouled in the act of shooting by Alco's Denny Knippenberg.

Winfield To Rescue

Both of Parsons' tries missed the target, but Winfield quickly turned LaSalle's disappointment into joy by following through on Parsons' second shot with his sixth and most important field goal of the evening.

The Explorers had stretched their lead to 10 points, 47-37, with about a minute to go in the third period, but Allegany came back with three quick fielders to pull within four points at the close of the stanza, 47-43.

Neil Phillips and Gary Frisby tallied on jump shots, then Frisby sneaked through a maze of defenders on an out-of-bounds play to take a pass from Glenn Davis and slip in a layup with 10 seconds remaining before the buzzer sounded to end the third period.

A field goal by Davis and pair of foul conversions by Gary Shook shoved the Campers in front by three points, 57-54, with 3:15 left in the game, but Parsons came right back with a two buckets scored under the basket to make it 58-57, LaSalle.

Frisby's two-pointer with 1:40 to go was to be the last score registered on the Allegany side of the scoreboard. One minute and 20 seconds later, Winfield's dramatic field goal concluded scoring for evening.

Rick, Van Score 38

Winfield and Parsons equally shared 38 points for the Explorers to top scoring honors for the night, while Rich Garlitz and Jim Terment contributed 12 and 10 tallies, respectively, to the LaSalle attack. Four Allegany cagers also scored in double figures, paced by Knippenberg with 15 markers.

The Campers outscored the visitors from the floor, hitting on 25 field goals in 63 tries for a percentage mark of .395. LaSalle took 70 cracks at the netted target and found the range 24 times for a .343 reading. The Explorers hooped 12 of 29 foul attempts, compared to Allegany's 9-20 effort. Lineups:

Duke Winds Up Season On Top

DURHAM, N.C., Feb. 28 (AP)—Duke's amazing Blue Devils, brilliantly accurate when they had to be, overhauled North Carolina tonight for a 59-46 basketball victory and the regular season Atlantic Coast Conference title.

Five Duke seniors playing their last home game went the distance, with each hitting in double figures. Their airtight zone bottled up the Tar Heels, who had trouble trying to hit from the outside.

Bob Vernon was Duke's high point man with 16. Bucky Allen, Paul Schmidt and Jim Newcome each tallied 11, and Bobby Joe Harris got 10.

Duke hit 24 of 43 attempts from the floor for 55.8 per cent. The Tar Heels made good on only 19 of 64 for a poor 29.7 per cent.

Three Golfers Tied For Lead In Louisiana

Venturi, Barnum, Palmer Post 138s

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 28 (AP)—Veteran John Barnum and youthful Ken Venturi shot three-under-par 69s today to climb into a three-way tie with Arnold Palmer for the 36-hole lead in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer, Latrobe, Pa. player, finished with the one-under-par 71, four strokes off his first round pace. He had a 138 total.

Barnum, 45-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., pro who never has won a major tournament, and Venturi, 26-year-old San Francisco native who has won four tournaments in 15 months as a professional, played almost errorless golf for the second day.

Three men were bunched one stroke back of the leaders at 139—Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., who shot a 68; Otto Greiner of Tenally, N. J., with a 71; and Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia, who also had a 71.

Defending champion Jimmy Demaret, Klamath Lake, N.Y., was six strokes off.

The 150 cutoff dropped out Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, injury to his left arm to become a paragon. Furgol dropped out of tournament play earlier this year because of an injury to his right arm. Trying again here on doctors' orders, Furgol shot a 77 and an 82 for a 159 total.

Mountaineers Play Colonials Tonight

MORGANTOWN, Feb. 28 (AP)—Second-ranked West Virginia, heading toward the finest season basketball record in school history, winds up its regular season tonight with a Southern Conference date at George Washington.

The Mountaineers, 22-1 against all comers, and 11-0 in the league, blasted the GW Colonials earlier this year, 93-66 at Morgantown.

Despite the one-sided victory, WVU Coach Fred Schaus believes his team may be in for a rough evening tomorrow.

"Don't discount George Washington," the WVU mentor warned. "They have the potential to give us a rough time."

Fort Hill Girls Windup 4th Straight Unbeaten Season

Extend Win Streak To 45 Games, Beat Hyndman, 56 To 36

Fort Hill High School's girls basketball team completed its fourth consecutive season with a perfect record by defeating Hyndman High School yesterday on the Pennsylvania's court by the score of 56-36.

The victory gave Coach Henrietta Snyder's sextet a season record of 9-0 extended their winning streak that began in the 1954 season to 45 games. Fort Hill's last defeat was in January, 1954.

Wilma Redinger's sharpshooting and the defensive play of Guard Eleanor Leatherman highlighted the final game of the 1957-58 campaign for the local aggregation.

Miss Redinger slammed in 14 field goals and scored 29 points to boost her season total to 187 tallies in nine games for an average of 20.8. Barbara Joyce scored 15 points, including seven goals and Nancy Bell collected six goals and 12 points.

Eight of the nine Fort Hill players who saw action were seniors playing their final game for the local school. They were Nancy Bell, Wilma Redinger, Barbara Joyce, Eleanor Leatherman, Linda Fuller, Donna Harris, Flora Muir and Betty Angellatta. Shirley Auvi, manager and scorekeeper, also is a senior. Betty Leatherman, a junior, also played in the final contest.

Capon Bridge And Paw Paw Reach Finals

Thorne Racks Up 43 Title Tilt Tonight

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Feb. 28—Coach Arno Hott's Capon Bridge High basketballers defeated Berkeley Springs, 78-49, and Coach Sid Roach's Paw Paw High Pirates won over the Wardensville High Warriors, 47-42, tonight, and advanced to the Saturday night championship game in the West Virginia Section 14, Class B basketball tournament.

Center Alan Thorne was the "big gun" for Capon Bridge as he dumped in 43 points on 20 goals and 3-4 at the foul line. The winners collected a total of 33 baskets to 19 for Berkeley. Lerner was top scorer for the losers with 11 markers.

A field goal and two fouls by Kevin Edmondson and three points by Ray Largent in the closing minutes of play featured a garrison finish that enabled the Pirates to pull the second semifinal contest out of the fire. Wardensville held a 41-38 advantage late in the game when Edmondson and Largent came through in the clutch for the Morgan countians.

Largent paced the scoring with 14 tallies. Phil Hamilton racked up 11 and Edmondson garnered ten. Billy Orndorff and Jim Fridley headed the Warriors with 12 and nine points.

Navy Recruit Qualifies For Nuclear Field

Navy recruiters yesterday reported the enlistment of seven area men, including the first local man to apply for and enter the Navy's nuclear field.

John Charles Stark, 18, of 604 North Fourth Street, LaVale, son of Dr. and Mrs. John William Stark and a graduate of Allegany High School, enlisted for four years and made application as a nuclear field seaman recruit. His ability tests and mental tests were more than high enough to qualify for this highly specialized training, recruiters reported, and he was accepted.

Enlisting as high school airmen recruits for naval aviation were three men, two from Elk Garden, W. Va., and one from Shallowford, Thomas Stephen Dixon, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas Dixon; and Bryson Aronhalt, 18, son of the late John W. and Mrs. Marie Bosley Aronhalt, both graduated from Elk Garden High School. Thomas Ivan Milavec, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Milavec, Shallowford, also graduated from Elk Garden High. These three men enlisted for four years each.

Enlisting in the electronics field for four years was Richard William Walker, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker, Star Route, Frostburg. He graduated from Beall High.

Frank Delano Neff, 18, of 744 Maryland Avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Neff, a former Fort Hill student, enlisted as a seaman recruit.

Two minority enlistments include Ilyoe Ignatius Bollino, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bollino, 10 Frost Avenue, Frostburg; and Clarence Ross Armstrong, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Armstrong, Detmold Street, Lonaconing.

All of these men went to Great Lakes Training Station for basic training.

Coal Mine Cited For Violations

A coal mine near Lonaconing has been cited by the Bureau of Mines for failing to maintain proper safety precautions in its operation.

The mine, operated by the Castle Coal Company, was charged with failure to maintain an alternate escapeway from the working section to the surface and 12 other violations of the Federal Mine Safety Code.

The report on the conditions of the company's No. 1 mine was made by Harry Jones, a federal inspector for District C. of the U. S. Department of Interior, Bureau of Mines.

In his report to the district office at Morgantown, W. Va., Mr. Jones said the alternate escape route from the mine was not in a travelable condition.

The federal inspector in his report recommended that the mine fan be operated continuously while men are in the mine and that better ventilation be provided in the face areas. He also recommended weekly examinations for explosive gas and other hazards.

Mr. Jones proposed that the power circuit that leads underground be equipped with lightning arresters. He also urged provision of an accurate mine map, and the use of goggles or shields by workmen exposed to eye hazards.

The mine averages 12 tons of coal daily and is usually operated by five men.

Clinic Schedule Is Announced

Child health or well-baby clinics and other clinics during the first week of March were announced yesterday by the Allegany County Health Department.

The well-baby clinics scheduled for next week are as follows:

Monday, City Hall, 9:30 a. m.; Tuesday, City Hall and John Humbird School, 9:30 a. m.; Wednesday, Westernport, 9:30 a. m.

Thursday, Barton, 9:30 a. m.; Friday, Mt. Savage and Bowman's Addition, 9:30 a. m.

Hearing clinics will be held on Monday and Tuesday at City Hall, 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Prenatal clinics, Wednesday, City Hall, 9 a. m. until noon.

Pediatric clinics, City Hall, Thursday, 9 a. m. until noon.

Chest clinics, Friday, City Hall, 9 a. m. until noon.

Man Wanted In Slashing Surrenders

Wilfred Carl Simmons, wanted in the slaying of Mrs. Helen Steiner of Baltimore Avenue January 27, gave himself up yesterday to police in Port Chester, N. Y.

Simmons is charged with assault with intent to maim, and with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, a federal offense.

Mrs. Steiner, who was found February 1 in a Marion Street apartment, left Memorial Hospital Thursday after undergoing extensive treatment.

Appreciation Dinner Set By Scouters

The executive board of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, at its meeting Thursday in the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company instituted plans for the annual council appreciation dinner for its volunteer leaders.

Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, Council president, named a committee to work out arrangements for the event set on April 24. The site has not been selected.

Dr. E. E. Church, Keyser, is chairman, and he will be assisted by James C. Warden, Cumberland; Maurice Brookhart, Oakland; John Dunkle, Frostburg; and Charles Park, Petersburg.

At the dinner, announcement will be made of the selection of Silver Beaver award winners. The Silver Beaver pin goes to outstanding Scouters in a council, and is the highest council honor to the adult workers.

The selection committee, which will not announce the findings until the dinner, is comprised of Victor D. Heisey, Cumberland, chairman, and Dr. Donald P. Whitworth, Piedmont, and Kirkland S. McKee, Keyser.

Harland Ridder, Keyser, was named chairman of the Council's Explorer program which will undergo a change in the near future.

Paul Bowman Jr., Luke Explorer Scout, showed color slides he took when he attended the International Boy Scout Jamboree in England this past summer.

Coincidental with his son's speech, Paul Bowman Sr. earlier during the meeting was elected as a member of the council executive board.

Three Wills Admitted To Probate Here

Three wills were admitted to probate in Orphans Court.

The will of William Goebel, city, who died February 25, named Richard T. Hamill, Frostburg, a nephew, executor. Cash bequests were made to Salem Reformed Church in Frostburg and the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Philadelphia. Other cash bequests were made to various members of the family.

The will of Irving T. Holland, city, who died January 17, 1957, named a daughter, Jean H. Van Ormer, and Mrs. Rose M. Holland, the widow, as beneficiaries. The daughter obtained letters of administration on the estate.

The will of Guy W. Clayton, city, who died February 21, named a step-daughter, Billie Jane McBee, as executrix of the will. She was also named a beneficiary. The will stated that other members of the family were provided for previously.

$10,000 Damage Suit Is Filed

Suit for $10,000 damages as the result of a highway accident last November 4 at the intersection of U. S. Route 40 and the Clarysville Road was docketed yesterday in Circuit Court.

Eugene E. Loy, 56 Blocher Street, Ridgeley, filed the action against William J. Scarpelli, Winchester Road. The declaration, docketed by Earl E. Manges, attorney for Loy, states that Scarpelli failed to stop at the intersection and crashed into Loy's car.

Loy states his car was damaged and he also suffered back injuries of a permanent nature.

County Board Gets Letters On Rt. 40 Job

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received a number of letters yesterday concerning a resolution passed by the board asking for a speedup in highway work on U. S. Route 40 between Frostburg and Hancock.

Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads Commissioner, notified the county board of receipt of a letter from the board on their resolution.

Bonnell stated: "Since the schedule for projects in the program was made by the Legislature, the SRC has no alternative but to follow that schedule as nearly as available funds permit."

"The improvement of U. S. Route 40 is included in the program, some projects have been completed, others are under construction and other remain to be done in the second and third four-year periods of the program."

"The SRC will leave no stone unturned to complete Route 40 as soon as possible. The efforts of various groups in favor of the Route 40 project is laudable and it is one of the most important roads in Maryland," Bonnell concluded.

Other letters were received by the board in which the correspondents stated their support for the U. S. Route 40 project. They included J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller; and Delegates Noel Speir Cook, Fred B. Driscoll and David J. Williams, all of Allegany County.

SRC Reports Balance In County Fund

After a number of adjustments are made in the account of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with the State Roads Commission, there will be a balance of approximately $25,000, according to M. M. Brodsky, comptroller of the SRC.

Brodsky sent the letter along with the fiscal report of the county's account to show that a deficit of $21,220.60 will be changed as soon as the adjustments on a number of projects are made.

He listed these as $28,600 from the federal matching fund program for the Mt. Savage School Road, $3,700 for engineering on the North Branch Road and $20,051.16 as the B&O Railroad Company as its 10 per cent share of the overhead bridge at North Branch.

The county will be required to provide matching funds for its share of construction of a county roadway to connect with an overhead bridge across the B&O Railroad yards in the Mexico Farms section. The actual cost to the county for this project has not yet been determined as engineering studies are not yet complete.

The railroad will pay for the overhead bridge under the federal grade crossing program. Federal aid is given to railroads when grade crossings are eliminated.

This is a terrible thing. Because if you can't suspend disbelief, you suddenly find yourself thinking—as Mr. Mineo is singing duets with Miss Albergheiti—"This is just a teen-age crooner dressed like a Chinese playing a part in a television extravaganza that must have cost du Pont a wad of money." I can't recall having any such mundane and terribly practical thoughts watching Charlton Heston and Claire Bloom in "Beauty and the Beast."

That was a fairy story; "Aladdin," on the other hand, was a production.

I must admit it was quite a production. In color with its Chinese reds and brilliant yellows it was sumptuous and eye-filling. Cole Porter's score was not anything that will be linked to his name for generations to come but it was a good, serviceable and frequently witty and tuneful job of work. I liked "Aladdin," a song in which Mr. Porter happened.

Eighty-five-year-old Philip Timbrook, of 13 Decatur Street, who is in ill health, asks daily for a son, Blair, whom he hasn't seen for five years.

Through another son, Taylor Kimbrook, 229 Glenn Street, Mr. Timbrook is seeking help from the local Red Cross office in locating the missing member of his family.

Blair Kimbrook was last known to have resided at Bridgeport, W. Va., and is now thought to be in Toledo, Ohio, according to Mrs. Jane Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany Chapter of the Red Cross.

Red Cross units of Toledo and the Bridgeport, W. Va., area have been alerted to help find the man, Mrs. Legge said. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Blair Kimbrook is asked to contact the local Red Cross office.

removed by soaking in cold water, then wash in warm water. If chewing gum has stuck to the garment rub with piece of ice and scrape off the gum. If stain remains—sponge with carbon tetrachloride.

Eggs and meat stains should be sponged off with cold water, then launder.

Fruit stains can be removed by pouring boiling water over spot. If stain remains, bleach. Do not use soap. Old stains are best removed by rubbing stain well with glycerin. Let stand several hours, then treat with boiling water.

Liquor stains can be washed out, but if a stain remains use a commercial bleach.

Javelle water or wood alcohol is good for removing mustard stains.

Maple Festival Parade Set For March 21

MEYERSDALE — One of the highlights of the 1958 Somerset County Maple Festival will be the annual parade to be held Friday, March 21 at 7:30 p. m. In past years the giant parade has attracted thousands into the community to follow the line of march.

The parade will honor Pennsylvania's Queen Maple XI, Miss Eileen LaBute of Berlin-Brothers Valley Joint High School, and the 10 members of her court. Chairman of the parade committee is Emerson Suder, president of the Meyersdale Volunteer Fire Department.

Two hundred invitations to high school bands, drum and bugle corps and marching units in the tri-state area have been sent out, and parade officials are expecting many units to participate in the parade.

Cash prizes totaling $615 are being offered to entries in 10 different categories. Top first prize money of $70 each is offered drum and bugle corps and community bands. Second prize money is $35.

Other divisions of the parade and prizes are as follows: Out-of-county high school bands, first $40; second $25; marching units (16 or more men) first $35; second $20; senior fire and drum corps, first $15, junior drum and bugle corps, $10.

Farmers' maple floats, first $40, second $25; business floats, first $40 and second $25; 4-H Club and school floats, first $40 and second $25; miscellaneous floats, first $40 and second $25.

In past years a trophy has been awarded to the best county high school majorette marching in the Maple Festival parade. This year the trophy from Gimbel Brothers in Pittsburgh will be awarded to the best Somerset County high school band. Competition for the trophy is expected to stir up rivalry between high school bands from the county's 12 high schools.

A new feature, to advertise the communities, resources and manufacturers of Somerset County, will be window displays depicting various industries of the county plus recreational facilities. Letters have been sent out to county industries and communities inviting them to take advantage of this chance to advertise Somerset County.

The window display thought was conceived with the idea that since numerous tours bringing persons from Washington, Pittsburgh and dozens of other cities in Pennsylvania will be conducted through this area, it gives Somerset County an opportunity to advertise its communities, resources and products to manufacturers.

With this in mind, the Maple Festival committee has decided to use all available window space in Meyersdale to depict the dairy, coal, maple, lumber, quarrying, manufacturing and agricultural industries, plus recreational facilities.

The advertising service is offered to firms and communities without charge. However, they are to furnish the display. Sherwood Holbert, president of the Meyersdale Chamber of Commerce, is in charge of procuring and assigning window space.

In introducing this new feature a number of points to be featured in the displays have been suggested. However, more can be added by the displayer. Points such as products manufactured or produced, number of employees, amount of payroll, value of products produced and the size of investment should be included in the display.

Information for the displays can be secured from the Agricultural Extension Office in Somerset, the County Coal Operators Association and many other similar groups. Officials of the festival require that window displays be set up by Monday, March 17 and they be left intact until after March 23, the last day of the 1958 festival.

County firms and communities are asked to advise the Maple Festival as soon as possible whether or not they wish to take advantage of this opportunity to tell their story in the form of a window display. Immediate action is also required so that adequate window space can be reserved.

In introducing this new feature to the county, Herman E. Basehore, general chairman of the 1958 Maple Festival states, "This is a real chance to help yourself, the Maple Festival and Somerset County."

Rotary Clubs To Hold Meet

PIEDMONT — Rotary clubs of this area are planning to hold an intercity meeting at the Shrine Club on U. S. 50, west of Burlington, Tuesday, March 11, at 6:30 p. m.

E. K. Lindley, head of the Washington bureau of Newsweek magazine, will be the speaker for the evening. He has had wide experience as a Washington correspondent and has covered most of the foreign countries as a foreign correspondent during the past quarter of a century.

Rotarians from Piedmont, Keyser, Cumberland, Lonaconing, Frostburg, Oakland, Bedford and Grantsville are expected to attend the meeting.

Two Runaway Girls Are Nabbed Here

Two 17-year-old girls, arrested here as runaways, who told local police they were from Emily City, Mich., are being held in the detention quarters of the Allegany County Infirmary.

Police Detective Harry Iser said last night that a Pontiac, Mich., address was on a couple of letters found in the girls' possession. Another address listed a detention home in Pontiac where the girls apparently had been detained. Michigan authorities have been notified.

To Meet Tomorrow

A meeting of Local 569, Bartenders Union, AFL-CIO, will be held Sunday at 11 a. m. at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street, according to Arthur Siebert, secretary.

Siebert said Michael Belfoure, Washington, an international representative of the union, will speak on matters of importance to the membership.

To Hear Talks

Classification talks will be presented at the Cumberland Rotary Club Tuesday at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA, Paul Cornwell, Vincent Leasure and James Spottedford, members of the club, will be the speakers.

Road Priority Measure Wins House Approval

Would Permit SRC To Switch Projects

The House of Delegates took action yesterday to give the State Roads Commission authority to switch priorities of road projects in the new 15-year revised highway program.

But the SRC would have to confer with officials in the county involved before making any changes.

The authority is provided in House Bill 119, introduced by Dels. A. Gordon Boone (D-Baltimore County) and George R. Hughes (R-Allegany), majority and minority leaders, respectively. The House passed the bill and sent it to the Senate yesterday.

The bill provides that the State Roads Commission may switch priorities of projects with a county with the consent of a majority of a group composed of the county commissioners and the county delegation, including the state senator.

Revolving Fund Passes

A companion bill passed by the House (HB 121) continues the State Roads Commission's authority to set up a revolving fund totaling $10 million over a five-year period. The funds are set aside for future property buying.

In other action yesterday, the House passed HB 66, which would revoke the complex shuttle-relay system of licensing tractor-trailer trucks.

The bill, sponsored by Dels. Hughes and Edgar Silver (D-Baltimore 5th District), sets up flat registration fees on tractors and trailers, with the larger fee on the tractors.

Simplifies System

Under the present system, a trucker buys tags for four trailers for the price of 2½, on the theory that some trailers generally are idle, although tractors are in fairly continuous use.

Del. Hughes said the Maryland Motor Truck Association favored the proposed new system because it is simpler. The Department of Motor Vehicles has estimated the bill would bring in an extra $100,000 annually. The bill, if enacted by the Senate and signed by the governor, would expire after one year if not re-enacted.

County Boosts Two LaVale Employees' Pay

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted to increase the salaries of two employees of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, effective March 17.

The salary of Willard R. Engle, secretary-treasurer, was upped from $425 to $455 a month. Mrs. Grace Frost, the commission's bookkeeper, was advanced from $47.50 to $50 a week.

Harry Kaufman, a member of the commission, wrote the county commissioners requesting the increase. Other commissioners are William D. Claus Jr., chairman, and Chester A. Fisher. Mr. Kaufman observed that in the past eight years the number of Sanitary District customers has increased from 600 to 1,000.

The county commissioners also agreed unanimously to write the Federal Communications Commission in Washington supporting the request of the Ellerslie Volunteer Fire Company for inclusion in the Allegany County fire radio network. The used equipment the Ellerslie firemen are getting is being obtained at no cost to the county, according to William G. Barger, county Civil Defense director, who wrote asking for the favorable letter.

Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson said he had been informed by Burza Hanlin of Westport, one of the two county dog wardens, that he had to bring stray dogs to Cumberland because there was no place in the Westport area to keep them. He said that Abe Feldstein owns a building on the McCoolle Road which can be rented for $15 a month and kennels can be purchased from Dr. R. D. Hoffman, Bedford, Pa., veterinarian at $8 each. Commissioner William A. Wilson said he would look into the matter further.

Kelly Employees Answering Call For 'Missing Links'

A call for "missing links" in the chain of humanity represented by the Red Cross Blood Bank is getting response at the Kelly, Springfield tire plant, according to Mrs. Norman W. Taylor, Red Cross blood recruitment chairman who is lining up donors for the monthly visit of the Johnstown bloodmobile here next Monday and Tuesday.

"In most cases it is just an oversight when folks fail to sign up to give blood freely to the blood bank, from which it is distributed free to patients at local hospitals," Mrs. Taylor said last night. "Usually, all they need is a reminder to enlist them as links in the life-giving chain that keeps blood flowing to sickness and accident victims."

Honored For Service

Richard Winer (right), director of development at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, receives a 15-year service pin from D. H. Little, plant manager. Mr. Winer joined Hercules Powder Company in 1943 at Radiator, Va., and came to ABL in 1946. He became research group supervisor in 1950, chief of the rocket development department in 1953, and development director last May. In 1953 he received the Navy's highest civilian award, the Distinguished Public Service Award, for "exceptional contributions to the U. S. Navy" for his part in development of new propellants for guided missiles.

Youths Oppose Hughes' Bill To Lower Voting Age

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 28 (P)—A group of high school and junior college students today told a House committee the voting age in Maryland should not be lowered from 21 to 18.

A group of adults spoke in favor of the proposal.

Today is the 34th anniversary of the Cumberland Free Public Library which began operations March 1, 1924 on Greene Street in what is now the Girl Scout House.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, and her staff, often asked to conduct research into many subjects, found how to say "Happy Birthday" in 12 languages.

Besides English they are "Bonnie Pette", French; "Glückliches Geburtstag", German; "Eftihes Onomastia", Greek; "Khush Paldash Ka Dhin", Hindustani; Felice Nascita, Italian; "Salvete", Latin; "Z Powinszowanie Imienin", Polish; "Schastlivye Dny Roshdeniya", Russian; "Felicitadas", Spanish; "En Lycklig Födelsdag", Swedish; "Huan-Hsi Sheng-I", Chinese.

Robert Kaplon President-Elect Of B'nai B'rith

Robert Kaplon was named president-elect for 1959 by members of Western Maryland Lodge, B'nai B'rith, who met Thursday night in the vestry of Beth Jacob Synagogue.

Robert Gerson is the incoming president, having been elected last year to serve during 1958. Other officers who were elected include:

Dr. S. M. Jacobson, first vice president; Allen Hirsch, second vice president; Frank H. Kaplon, secretary; Harry Stein, treasurer; Melvin Sacks, warden; William H. Schindler, guardian; George Ossip, Robert Goldfine, and Harry Kaufman, trustees. An installation will be conducted next month. After the election, refreshments were served.

Marsh Mountain Skiing Reported Fair To Excellent

Skiing conditions on Marsh Mountain at Deep Creek Lake in Garrett County were reported from fair to excellent last night.

Base snow on the slopes ranges in depth from 18 inches to 100 inches. The prediction for today calls for colder weather and snow flurries.

Two Baltimore and Ohio Railroad coaches will be loaded with visiting skiers coming to Garrett County from the Baltimore and Washington areas.

Kelly Employees Answering Call For 'Missing Links'

Kelly workers are being contacted by a committee headed by F. T. Bell, personnel manager, and Lindsay M. Bray, personnel staff. There are some 1,600 hourly-paid and 200 staff workers at Kelly.

Due to Kelly's continuous operations, the donors are being scheduled for the blood collection among the general public at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, from noon until 6 p. m. on Monday.

Tuesday's collection will be at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, which has shown the greatest response so far to the bloodmobile's industrial visits. The collection at ABL is scheduled between 11 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Ribbon Copies Seeks To Stop Foreclosure

Hopes To Prevent Machinery Sale

Ribbon Copies Corporation of America, a corporation with Mt. Savage as its principal place of business, filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday seeking a court order restraining foreclosure proceedings against the Nicholas Machine Works, Inc., on a chattel mortgage.

The suit further requests the court to determine that Ribbon Copies Corporation of America shall have the right within 60 days to purchase and acquire the chattel mortgage for $9,000.

Plaintiff in this action with the corporation is Daniel Price, individually and as director and stockholder of Ribbon Copies Corporation of America and as director and officer of Nicholas Machine Works Inc.

Defendants Listed

Defendants are Nicholas Machine Works Inc., Dimitri Nicholas, individually and as president and director of Nicholas Machine Works Inc.; William R. Carscaden, assignee of mortgage, and Nicholas Manolovich, director of Nicholas Machine Works, Inc.

The bill of complaint states that Ribbon Copies owns all of the issued and outstanding stock of the Nicholas Machine Works. The latter corporation owns the lands and buildings at Mt. Savage where its machine shops and offices are located.

On January 22, 1957, Nicholas Machine Works, Inc., borrowed $30,000 from one Shah Arsham and as security issued a chattel mortgage covering all of the machinery and equipment at Mt. Savage.

On March 25, 1957, Dimitri Nicholas, who is president of Nicholas Machine Works, Inc., purchased the chattel mortgage from Arsham for $9,000. The bill of complaint alleges that the chattel mortgage purchase was made without the knowledge of Price, who was an officer and director of Nicholas Machine Works Inc. at the time.

Heard In December

Price contends that the first knowledge he had of the assignment of the chattel mortgage was in December 1957. Price asserts that he then advised Dimitri Nicholas that any purchase of the chattel mortgage would be considered as having been made by and on behalf of the Nicholas Machine Works, and that any benefits should accrue to the corporation.

Price further states that his first knowledge of foreclosure proceedings in Allegany County Circuit Court was as a result of a phone conversation with C. William Gilchrist, attorney, on February 19 of this year. On that day Dimitri Nicholas assigned the chattel mortgage to Attorney William R. Carscaden for foreclosure.

The plaintiff contends that Nicholas, in attempting to foreclose the chattel mortgage, perpetrated a fraud against Nicholas Machine Works to secure financial gain for himself at the expense of Nicholas Machine Works and the stockholders of Ribbon Copies Corporation of America.

Seeking Contracts

The bill of complaint goes on to state that negotiations are now going on between Ribbon Copies and other parties calculated to result in the securing of substantial defense contracts for both the Ribbon Copies and Nicholas Machine Works, which will result in substantial employment in Mt. Savage and will enhance the value and prospective earnings for stockholders of Ribbon Copies.

Unless the court restrains Dimitri Nicholas from a proceeding with foreclosure and sale of machinery and equipment under the chattel mortgage, irreparable damage will result to the plaintiffs and to Nicholas Machine Works, Inc., the bill of complaint alleges.

The suit was filed by Attorneys James Alfred Avirett and Marshall I. Stewart. Chief Judge George Henderson signed a show cause order giving the defendants until March 15 to show cause why the relief requested should not be granted.

Good Forest Management Cited In Garrett County

Good forest management for repeated harvests of tree crops has qualified an additional five 900-acre tree farm in Garrett County.

Russell Mizell Jr., of Big Pool, has carried out selective harvests of land are located in nearby Garrett County and Washington County.

Among the newly-certified tree farms is a 3,300-acre tract in Garrett County owned by the Western Maryland Railway Company.

The area is managed by the company's forester, John Adams, for the greatest long-run return through forest management.

Timber cutting for forest products and improvement of the woods through thinning and removal of undesirable trees has been carried out on over half the area. More than 10,000 trees have been planted on barren areas.

E. C. Weitzell of Alexandria, Va., has made selective harvests and reforested 70 acres of his 900-acre tree farm in Garrett County.

Those previously filed for county commissioner on the Republican ticket include W. A. Strother, this city; Louis V. Shinnamon, LaVale; Charles N. Hill, Frostburg; William A. Wilson, Midland; Harold L. Drew, Carls; Glenn K. Davis, this city; Robert C. Hohing, Frostburg; Simeon W. Green, Frostburg; Okey Michael, Westport, and James Orr, this city.

Civic Symphony Concert Offers Varied Program

The program of the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra, to be presented next Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium, will be varied, interesting and designed to appeal to all classes of music lovers, Wilton Syckes, conductor, said last night.

Included will be a symphony by Mozart as well as the complete selection from the famous Broadway show and more recent movie, "Carousel." Other light numbers are included, the director said.

As a special treat for the Cumberland area audience, Richard Bain, world-famous harmonica virtuoso and member of the famed United States Navy Band of Washington will be guest soloist.

Mr. Bain is the nation's youngest harmonica concert soloist and plays with equal ability Bach, Gershwin or Kenton. He was recently featured with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians on a national network show; guest starred with Horace Heidt and his orchestra; recorded transcriptions with Kay Kyser, was guest soloist with the Boston Symphony and with Emile Arcieri and the New England Philharmonic; guest star and soloist with Heywood-Wakefield spring concert; and has guest-starred on numerous television shows. He has also played for the Queen of England, King of Saudi Arabia and many times for the President.

Mr. Syckes says this appearance here represents an outstanding opportunity for Cumberland.

The local symphony orchestra, he observed, is the only Maryland Symphony Orchestra outside Baltimore City, and is composed of volunteer musicians including salesmen, students, housewives, teachers, merchants, doctors, engineers and others interested in bringing more cultural activity to the Cumberland area. None of the members of the orchestra receives any remuneration for the concerts or rehearsals.

Cumberland can best show its appreciation, he continued, by attending the concerts offered and supporting the program.

Tickets are available at Syckes Music Store and from members of Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah, Allegany County Historical Society, Sacred Heart Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Women's Civic Club and the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra.

Marple Enters Crowded Race For Board

A. Lee Marple, 234 North Centre Street, local businessman, became the 11th official Republican candidate for county commissioner subject to the May 20 primary election when he paid his $25 filing fee and filed yesterday with the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Mr. Marple was a candidate in the 1954 general election when he ran as an independent and finished fourth in the five-man race. He registered as a Republican shortly after that election.

After filing, Mr. Marple appealed to all citizens of Allegany County to make sure that they are registered with the County Board of Election Supervisors at the Court House so they can vote in the May 20 primary. The registration deadline is April 19.

Three more candidates for the Republican State Central Committee filed yesterday. They are required to pay a $10 fee, for the first time. The candidates are Leonard D. Miller, Shaft; Ernest B. Treat, this city, and J. Irvin Martin, Barton, Mr. Treat and Mr. Martin are now serving on the committee by appointment. Jerry G. Clise, Miller Mines, filed Wednesday.

State Budget Under Study Of Finance Units

Maximum Cuts Seen At $6-$7½ Million

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 28 (P)—Finance committees of the Legislature began comparing notes late today on how much spending they could squeeze from Gov. McKeldin's $87 million dollar budget.

Guesses of maximum cuts in general fund requests, which will determine how much new tax money is needed, ranged from 6 to 7½ million dollars.

This would be an all-time record for budget-cutting by the General Assembly, but would still leave more than $33 million dollars to be raised in order to bring the budget into balance.

The sales and income taxes, Maryland's major general revenue producers, both may have to be increased to carry sharp adjustments to meet the problem.

Committees began conferring on the budget cuts at 5 p. m. but recessed at 6. They planned to continue the study after tonight's sessions of the Senate and House. Committee Chairmen Boone and Turnbull predicted it would be late tonight before they complete the job.

The budget, which is scheduled to begin moving through the Senate tomorrow, came into committee 38½ million dollars shy of revenue to balance it. Because of further decreases in expected tax collections, and some new spending proposals from the governor, the gap had widened to $40,492,271 before committees got around to comparing cuts today.

The governor's spending proposals were up only some 20 million dollars over last year's budget, but there was a surplus of nearly 23 million dollars with which to balance the current year's budget.

The absence of any surplus this year, plus the increase in requests, accounted for the 40½ million dollar deficit between expected revenue and proposed spending.

The finance committees were fairly well tied down on how deep they could cut the budget without impairing state services which most legislators have come to regard as essential.

The biggest single increase subject to their pruning was a $3,300,000 request to increase salaries for state employees. Many legislators, worried about tax increases in an election year, have leaned toward cutting most or all of this out. Many others have protested against deep cuts in it.

Jury Boosts Electrician's Disability

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon decided that a West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company electrician was more seriously disabled than the State Industrial Accident Commission had ruled when the case was first heard.

Norris C. Schade, 416 South Main Street, Keyser, an electrician at the paper mill, sustained a severe electrical shock at the mill on September 20, 1955. While on a 35-foot-high pole, his hand came in contact with a hot wire and 440 volts passed through his body.

The commission ruled that Schade had suffered a 25 per cent permanent partial disability to both of his arms. He appealed.

At yesterday's hearing, the jury of three women and nine men with Edward D. Larkin, this city, as foreman, agreed with the testimony of Dr. Lewis Brings. He testified that the electrician had 33½ per cent disability in both arms and 20 per cent disability to his back. After 40 minutes of deliberation, the jury returned with a verdict paralleling Dr. Brings' testimony.

Dr. Robert Bess had testified that Schade's disability was 10 to 15 per cent for his arm and he attributed his back ailment to arthritis.

Simon F. Reilly was attorney for the electrician and Horace P. Whitworth Sr. represented the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The dollar and cents effect of the verdict was explained as follows: Under the commission's ruling Mr. Schade would have received $3,150; as a result of the jury's verdict, he will get $4,200 for his arms and $2,500 for his back disability.
